Truly said . . . never a dull moment.

Every minute of time upon passing reveals but another golden moment of opportunity. Time is an intangible that constantly watches over us, governing our life, our hopes, our ambitions and their fulfillment.

During the three short years of high school a foundation is laid for a new individual—an individual whose life is richer and deeper because of these three years.

A time for dreaming and thinking, working and planning, the three years of high school are a short time—a time that first seems to drag and then too suddenly becomes brash and hurried, leaving many acts undone and many thoughts unsaid. Held in this brief space are carefree days and nights coupled with the serious thoughts of what the future may hold. Serious thoughts that soon will begin to grow into reality before our eyes.

It is a time of change serving us well as a steppingstone. These years are spent in acquiring a fundamental knowledge and comprehension of the society into which we will be thrust. With the passing of days we face disappointment and achievement, victory and defeat, all playing their part in the production of a self-conditioned citizen. Armed with these essentials, the task remains with us to fulfill our potentialities enabling us to attain our goals in life.

These are times difficult to reflect upon. In the yearbook we have attempted to recall the many happy and sad times, the big events and everyday occurrences, the seriousness, the light-heartedness, moments of loneliness and the warmth of companionship. We've shown each section as a component length of time that fulfilled the passing hours and made them more meaningful. Here then in retrospect is "The Time of Our Lives."

Counseling young men and women takes many competent teachers. Our leaders who are wise in years and experience are always ready to help us the citizens of tomorrow.

From the earliest days of Grand Island Senior High School, Grand Island has always demanded and secured the finest in an educational system. The wisdom of the age, the stability of the middle years, and the ability of the youth all go toward making a top faculty at GIHS.

Encountered with the many insatiable questions asked of them our members have always attempted to furnish answers. As counselors and friends they have guided us in making many decisions that will help determine the paths we choose to follow.

school board

our simples problems their greatest concern

Grand Island's School Board is comprised of nine people of varied professions and occupations. It is their task to furnish the students and the citizens of Grand Island with the finest educational system.

Joining our school system from Beatrice this year as superintendent of schools is Dr. Glenn Lundstrom.

Working together, the school board and Dr. Lundstrom determine policies, curriculum, teacher and student standards and the construction of new school buildings. Under their direction are eight elementary schools, two junior highs and one senior high school.

With the community standing strongly behind our school officials, we shall attempt to continue to maintain a widely recognized superior school system.

A pleasant chat, a friendly smile. Such is Dr. Glenn A. Lundstrom. Dr. Lundstrom joined the Grand Island School System this year as superintendent of schools.

administration welcomed phrase "we understand"

Well-balanced education requires something more than book-learning. Wholesome personal relationships must be established and character traits must be cultivated. It is the purpose of the administration and 50 faculty members at Grand Island Senior to help the student to attain this balance.

GIHS offers five courses of study to its students. Because it would require 10 years to explore all of them, each student is counseled in his choice of program so that he will make the best use of his capabilities.

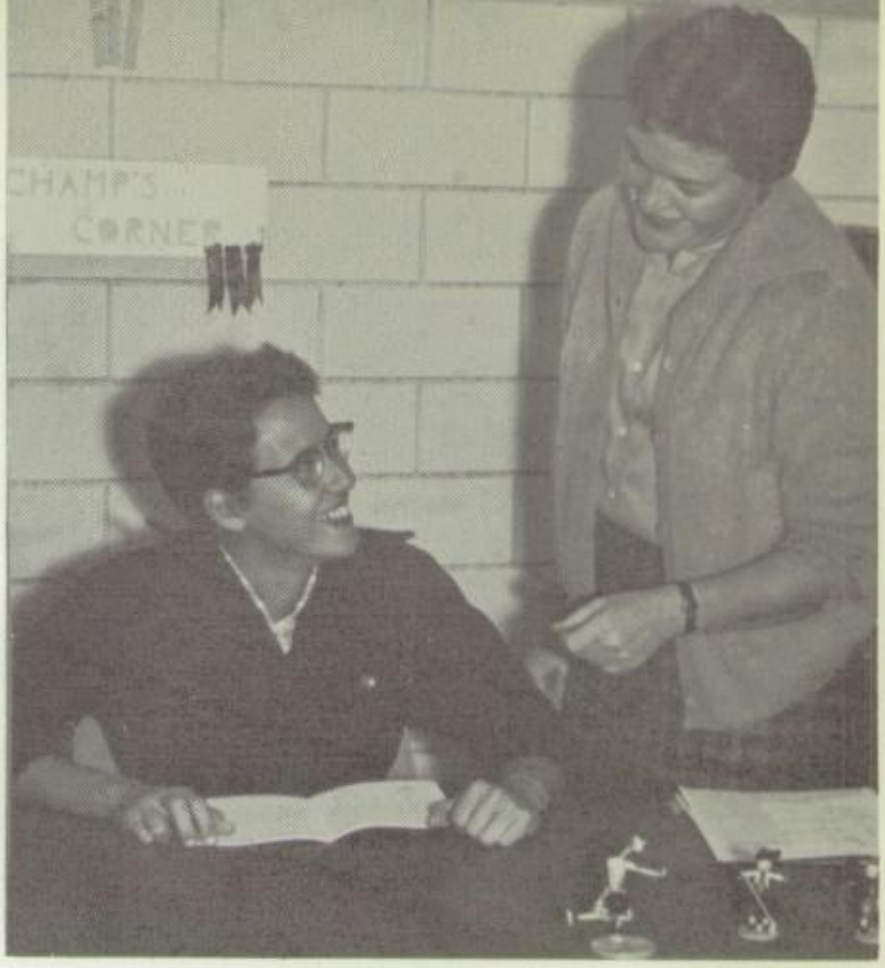
The various general courses available are college preparatory, business education, homemaking, trades preparatory and general curriculum.

A man who must make the decisions. Mr. Noel Lawrence, principal, will this year complete his "Lucky 13" years in the Grand Island School System. In addition to his many administration duties, Mr. Lawrence is sponsor of Student Council.

A ready smile his trademark, Mr. Alan Seagren, vice-principal, assists Deanna Olson in filling out her excuse.

Complete counseling in vocational plans is offered every student. Willa Hinrichs receives the competent guidance of counselors, Miss Irene Moerer and Mr. John Bailey.

With the expert help of Miss Willa Scudder, Miss Lois Waser plans for her next day's physical education classes. Miss Scudder is also a counselor and sponsor of Teens for Fun.



It's a cinch you won't get a deer this way, but riflery is one of the many activities of the physical education department. Supervising this group is Mr. Bud Feaster, boys' physical education teacher.

Hurry and scurry, Mrs. Shirley Richards and Mrs. Dianne Wakefield find the office duties in a high school interesting but frantic. Mrs. Richards and Mrs. Wakefield work as secretaries under Mr. Lawrence and Mr. Seagren.

Mr. Stephen Gaines instructs one of his students in the use of an auto motor tester. Mr. Gaines is the instructor in Auto Mechanics.

many futures are planned; many goals to be reached

Some of the varied courses that prepare a student for entrance into community life are offered in the Trades preparatory department.

Vocational instruction and planning are given in auto mechanics, trades co-op, mechanical drawing, vocational agriculture, metals, woods and crafts.

Instruction in the finer arts of ceramics, sculpture, drawing and painting as well as practical education in clothing, foods, personal development and family care is also offered at Grand Island Senior High School.

These are just part of the wide-ranging curriculum designed to prepare the student for active adult life.

Mr. Harvey Leamons and Sue Weaver count the intake from sales of sports programs. Mr. Leamons teaches mechanical drawing and architectural drawing.

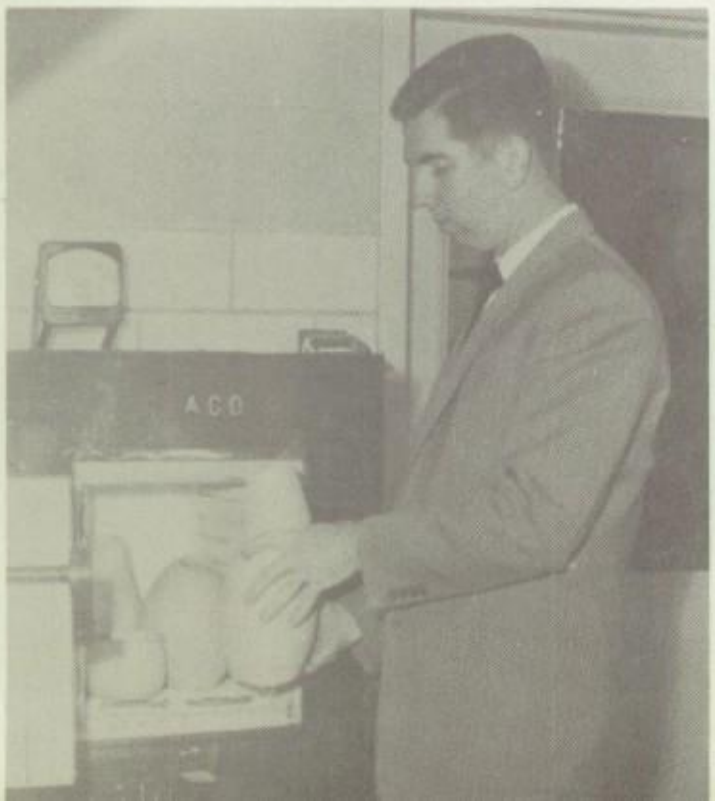
Counseling Judy Vang and John Huston on their co-op programs is Mr. Einer Toft. He serves as coordinator of the cooperative trades department.

"To sew a fine seam." Miss Ruth Siebold notes Jan Hardenbrook's progress on a garment for clothing. Miss Siebold also teaches personal development.

Mr. Don Keister assists a student in woodworking. Other subjects under his supervision are crafts and metals.

That smile is for what's cooking. Mrs. Kenneth Carver gives a few pointers to Kathy Rayno in Foods class.

Out of the kiln and ready for the final touches are ceramic vases made by students in Mr. David Young's ceramics and sculpture class. Mr. Young also teaches painting and drawing.



Explaining technical parts of farm machinery is an important part of vocational agriculture. Mr. Will Wakefield, instructor also sponsors FFA.

Will it work? Could be, if Mr. William Smith and Mr. Don Hein, chemistry and physics teachers, put their heads together.

science and math
challenges of the new era demand more of scientists

From general math to analytics and from applied science to chemistry, a GIHS student interested in math or science can find the course suited to him.

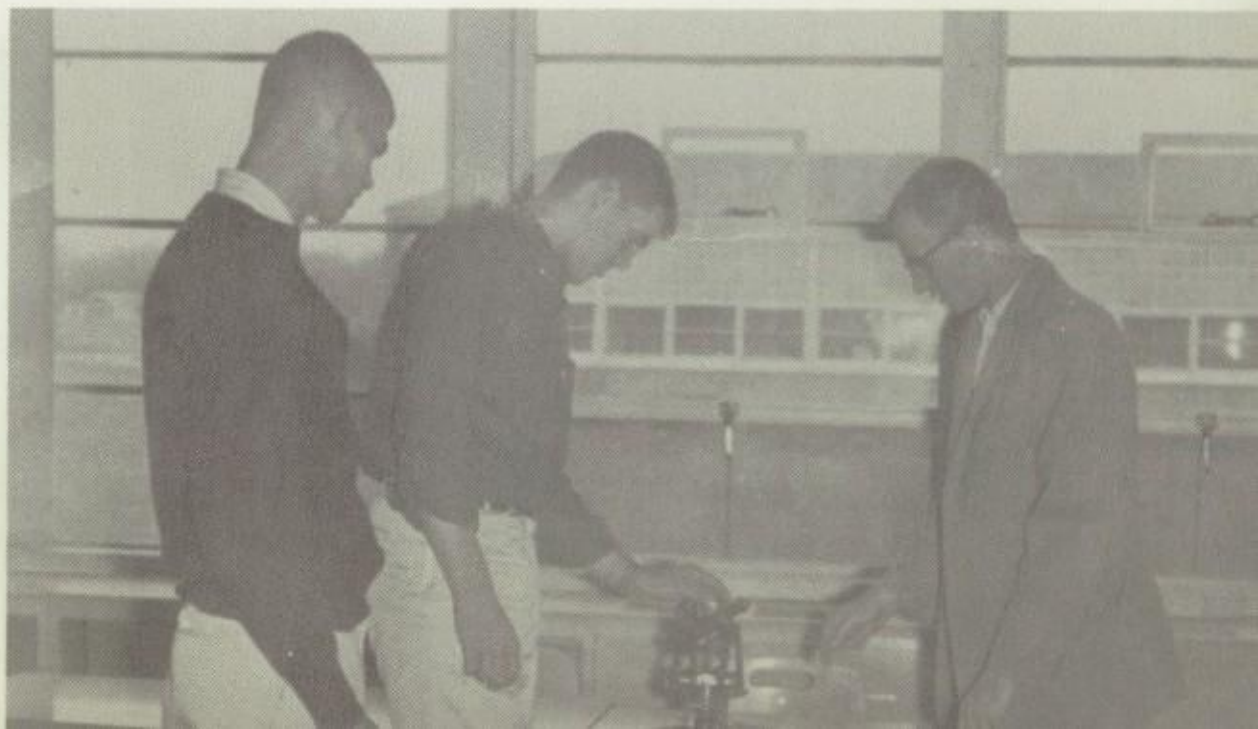
The mathematics department includes nine courses, two of them offering possible college credit. These courses may be selected from general math, first and second year algebra, geometry, trigonometry, analytics, solid geometry, college algebra and college trigonometry.

GIHS's science department, in turn, includes five courses, all requiring laboratory work. These are applied science, biology, physics, chemistry, and photography.

Every student is given an opportunity through the guidance of teachers, complete curriculum and modern equipment to advance as far as he desires in any one of the math or science fields.

"Now, are you sure that's right?" queries Mr. Frank Pinkston, algebra instructor, of one of his students.

There is something more to trigonometry than books. Mr. Gale Randel, geometry and trigonometry instructor, points this out to Jim Price and Jack Juel, "trig" students.



Performing surgery on a snake in the biology room is Mr. Don Bean. Karen Gehle and Don Potter, somewhat apprehensive, look on.

Checking on an order of film in his office is Mr. Ray Reith, audio-visual, photography and biology teacher.

Giving assistance to a first year algebra student, Donna Ruff, is Mr. Stanley Urwiller. Now in his second year at GIHS, Mr. Urwiller also teaches applied math.

Often it's the personal guidance that determines how well a subject is understood. Mr. Moerer, geometry teacher, adds his personal explanation to a problem troubling Marsha Hammond.

The finer points of campaign making learned first hand. Attending a session of Senator Jack Kennedy from Massachusetts, presidential hopeful, was one of the high lights of the students in speech and debate classes.

english and speech
major objective— basic understanding

English courses are designed to help students develop the ability to communicate intelligently with other people.

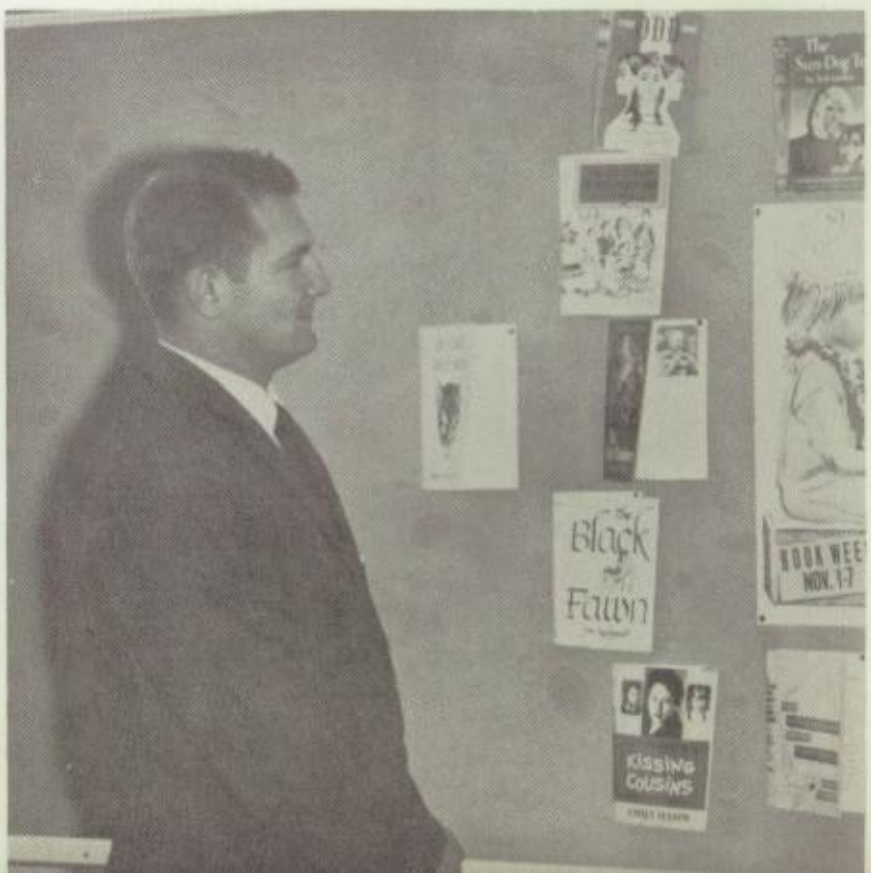
Twenty-five hours of English are required for graduation. Students may make their selection of subject material from any one of these; English 3 and 4, English 5 (American Literature), English 6 (fundamental speech), English 7 (World Literature), English 8 (theme writing), Business English, Review English, English 4J and 6J (journalism).

The journalism department also includes non-English credit Purple and Gold and Islander staffs.

The Drama and Speech departments attempt to train the student in original address, develop techniques in debate and give a basic understanding of drama. Courses offered are Speech 1 and 2, Debate and Drama 1 and 2.

Teaching the fundamentals of speech and debate is Mrs. Barbara Colhapp who listens critically as Virginia McKinney practices persuasiveness.

Teaching English 3 and American History leaves only a few moments free to Mr. Ron Lievense. Mr. Lievense is new to the GIHS faculty this year.



Discussing the sale of the "G. I. Gems", a student literary publication, are Mrs. Barbara Beye and Miss Bonnie Owens. Mrs. Beye is journalism and English instructor; Miss Owens teaches English.

The play "Green Valley" was put on by Purple Masque December 3, 4, and 5. Mrs. Muriel Stalker, teacher of dramatics and English, helps with the scenery for the play.

Miss Willa Lewis checks out books to her world literature students. Miss Lewis also teaches speech and is the cheerleader sponsor.

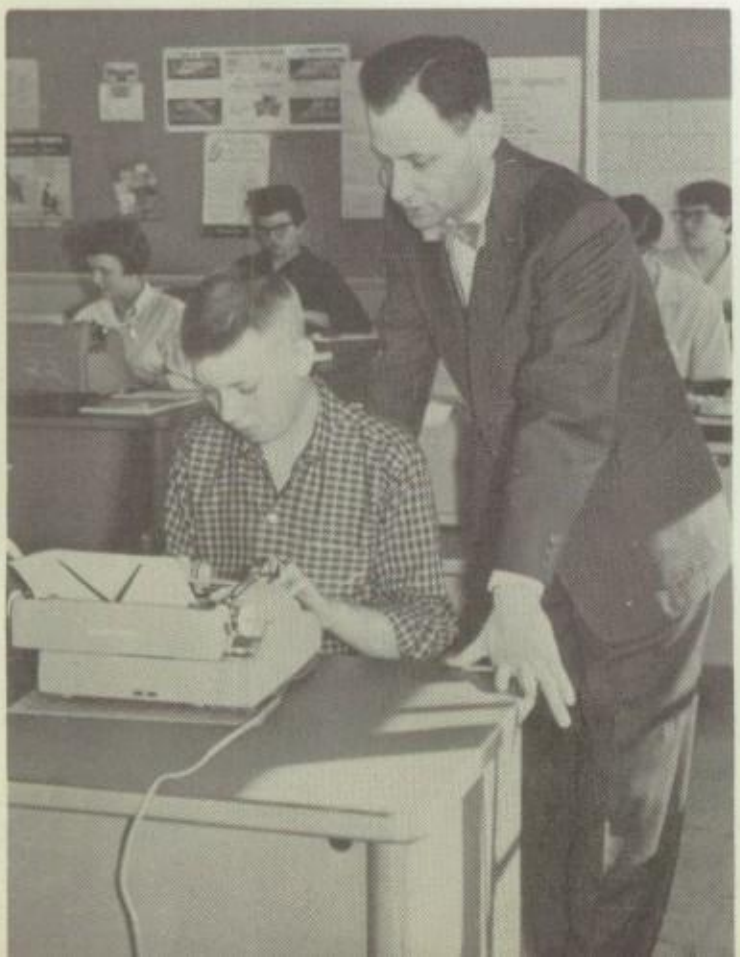
Mrs. Ruth Baron helps her students of American Literature learn the true meaning of poetry by using recordings of Robert Frost.

Miss Shirley Anderson and Mrs. Doris Russell discuss the correct method of typing. Miss Anderson teaches typing, office machines and sponsors the Jet organization. Mrs. Russell teaches typing and secretarial practice.

Checking in and checking out books are two of the many duties of Miss Catharine Glade and Mrs. Marie Toft, librarians.

education

Chris Rasmussen is learning fast the techniques of the electric typewriter, under the careful guidance of Typing teacher Mr. Woodrow Lambelet.



"Watch the right fender!" Mr. Jacque Evans, driver training teacher, is helping one of his students learn to parallel park.

Students taking secretarial practice learn to use many interesting machines. Mrs. Mary Williss and Mrs. Patricia Synovec, typing and shorthand teachers, show how to use the recording machine.

Once every six weeks English students are given reading rate and comprehension tests. Mrs. Mary Jane Harder explains the test to one of her business English students.

practical experience keynote of courses

In Grand Island High School, students registered for a commercial course can elect from typing, shorthand, office machines, bookkeeping and business English.

Typing is offered by semesters; a basic knowledge of the keyboard and necessary fundamentals are learned the first semester. The second semester typing is devoted to increasing speed and accuracy.

Two semesters of shorthand, a necessary skill to all secretaries, are taught at GIHS. Another essential element, bookkeeping, also offers two semesters credit.

In office machines, the commercial student learns to use correctly typical machinery found in many up-to-date offices.

Many of GIHS college preparatory students take bookkeeping and business English, bookkeeping is essential to become an accountant, and business English is needed in law.

Taking care of the advertising display window in the 300 wing is one of the duties of the commercial department.

social science

man's past efforts; his future destinies

Nations and civilizations of today learn by the past experiences of other nations and civilizations through education in history and related social sciences.

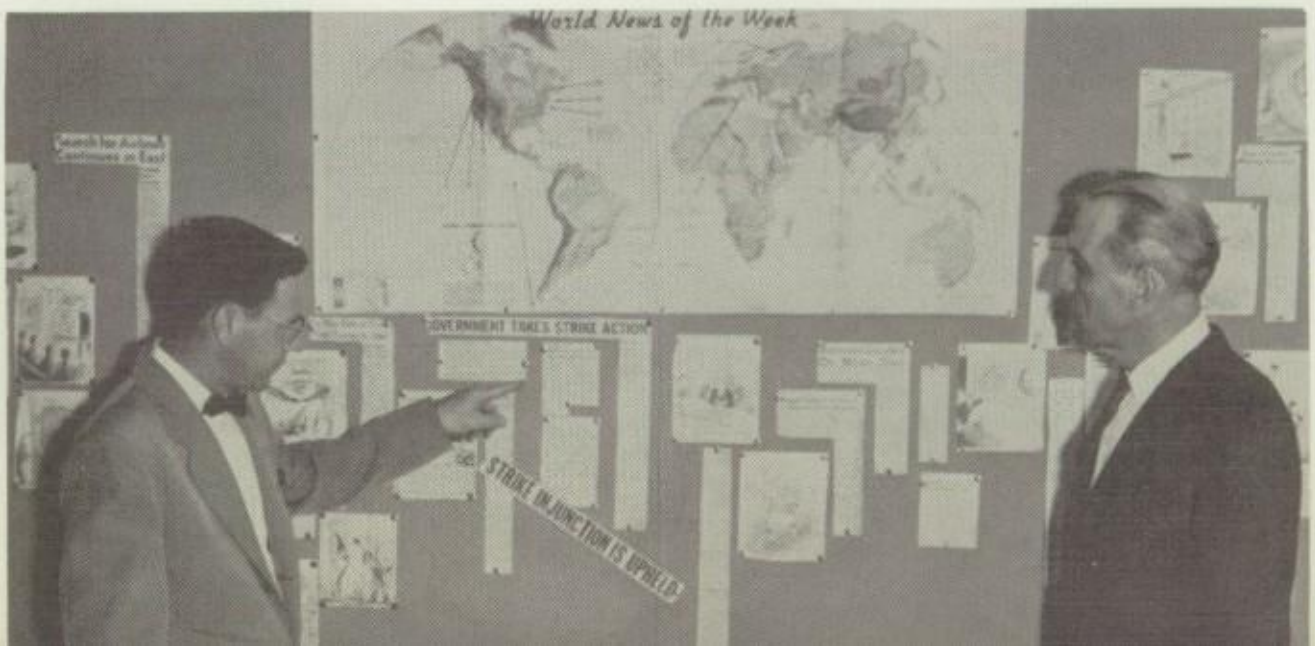
At Grand Island High School students receive a thorough education in social science throughout their entire three years. World History I and II is required of sophomores; American History I and II is taught in the junior year. Seniors complete their required social science majors by registering for social problems and economics.

County Government Day and Girls' and Boys' State give students a view into government in operation during their junior year. GIHS also participates in a summer United Nations tour and a foreign exchange student program.

Discussing the 1803 purchase of Louisiana are Miss Lillian Willman, American history teacher, and one of her students.

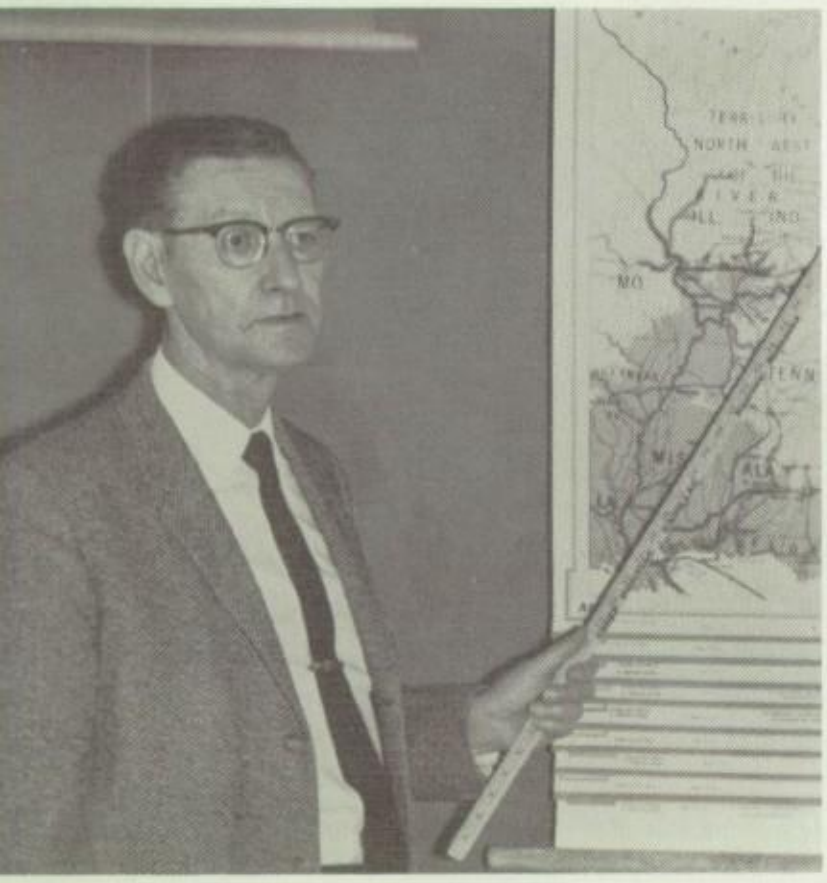
Diagramming the strategy of the next basketball game are Coach Bert Alfrey and Assistant Coach Ken Kohler. Mr. Alfrey teaches world history and Mr. Kohler, American history and physical education.

News from all over the world comes to the social sciences bulletin board. Mr. Edmund Werner, economics and business law teacher, is discussing one of the major problems with Mr. Lee Witters, economics and American history teacher.



Mr. Marc Boesen lectures on current world affairs to his social problems students.

Discussing the barbaric invasions of Western Europe is Mr. Jack Richards, world history teacher.



Mr. O. D. Russell, who teaches world history and manages the cafeteria, points out the Ohio River Valley and the route taken by early settlers.

Mr. James Stalker helps some of his world history students find information on the beginning of the French Revolution.

sounds of music
gihs students

Along with the intellectual courses, the fine arts are essential to a well-rounded program. Music creates a form of expression for many, a time of relaxation and pleasure for others.

Glee clubs, chorus, choir, band and orchestra are the music electives offered at GIHS.

A pep band of 17 members and Modern Music Masters, a national organization, are two more of the music groups open to talented students.

Dr. Paul Sell always finds time in his busy schedule as band director to help individual students, such as Don Ringlein.

Practicing "Amahl and the Night Visitors," a one act opera given by the Music Department, is Mr. Paul Roe, vocal music instructor.

Orchestra is one of the many varied music courses offered to students at GIHS.

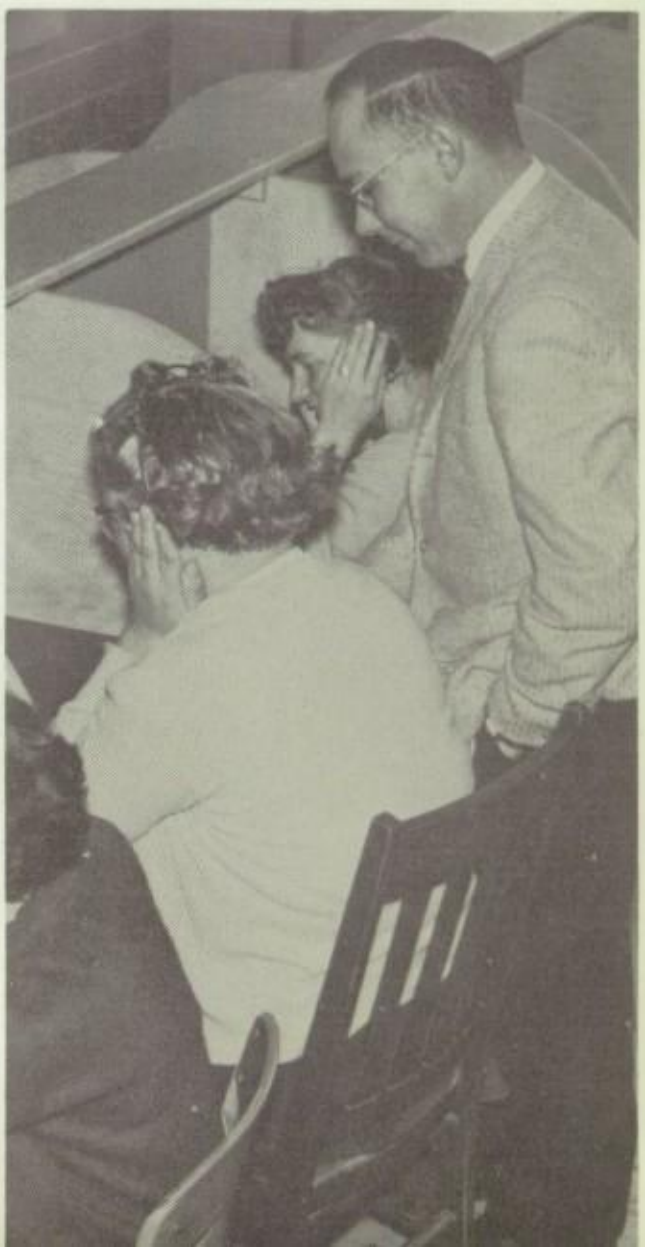
explore many fields

In a world that is ever-decreasing in "size", a knowledge of foreign languages becomes ever-increasing in importance. Bringing peoples of different nationalities closer together demands a better knowledge of foreign tongues.

At GIHS a student may elect one of three languages: Latin, Spanish, or German. Three year courses in each of the languages offer the student a substantial background for advanced college study.

Showing some of her Mexican blankets is Miss Hazel Hanna, teacher of Spanish. Third year Spanish is a new addition to the GIHS curriculum this year.

Raising house plants and gardening are some of the hobbies of Mrs. Dorcas Keig. Mrs. Keig teaches Review English and Latin.



Many fine facilities are made available for language students. Mr. Eldnern Wilkinson, German and Review English teacher, is making good use of these facilities.

academic life
knowledge forever

Many active discussions are started by student panels in Mr. Boesen's Social Problems classes.

One of the biggest moments of the year for the journalism department was the winning of the NHSPA Sweepstakes. Kathy Livingston, editor of the "Islander," accepts one of the awards.

Kathy Bishop holds the interest of this year's foreign exchange students, Nazan Bakirci and Ulrich Ostarhild, with a glance at the 1960 yearbook.

No school would be complete without special departments and our yearbook would be incomplete without a section devoted especially to them.

This is the Fine Arts Section of the 1960 Purple and Gold. Within the following pages lie the talents and interests of the GIHS students. Here in Grand Island, teenagers have been provided with the best of facilities to deal with their special abilities.

There are the drama and speech departments that mold the future speakers and movie stars; the home economics department, that is destined to produce another Betty Crocker; the Journalism department which puts out the Islander and Purple and Gold; and the music department, which provides vocal and instrumental training.

"The happier the time, the more quickly it passes," is written in Epistles; and as each student is the master of his time, it is to us to prepare to have "The Time of Our Lives" at GHIS.

Under the direction of Mr. Paul Roe, vocal music instructor, and Mr. Jack King, who was in charge of the dramatic production of the opera, members of Modern Music Masters presented the opera December 14 and 15 in the Little Theater.

The cast consisted of Gary Decker, page, Pat Kelly, Amahl's mother; Jim Kemplin, Kaspar; Larry Monson, Melchior; Dave Stull, Balthazar; and Penny Sullivan as Amahl. The villagers and shepherds were played by the Music Masters Chorus.

Bursting forth in song, the 66-voice choir at GIHS presented "The Lowland Sea" at the annual music variety show. They also were part of the mass chorus that presented "The Creation" in October.

Under the able direction of Mr. Paul Roe, this part of the music department is classified as one of the top choruses in the state. Its members are selected on the basis of scholarship and music ability. Class attitude is a very important factor in grading.

Selected students in choir, as well as other music groups, also went to the State Music Clinic in Lincoln and rehearsed under the direction of Don Craig, Professor of the music department at Ithaca College in New York.

Together since their junior year, the Senior Girls' Quartet has performed at many civic clubs. They are Pat Kelly, Margaret James, Patti Ewers and Judy Geer.

Faithfully supporting the students' enthusiasm at all pep rallies and home games, was the Pep Band, under the direction of Dr. Paul Sell.

Besides a marching band, there is also a fine orchestra at GIHS. Under the able direction of Dr. Paul Sell, these hard-working students met every day third period to perfect the art of making fine music. Brass and percussion instruments are added whenever they meet in a clinic with another school. This year, Hastings was the host for the annual Hastings-Grand Island orchestra clinic held in April.

The orchestra also played at Baccalaureate in June.

assemblies presented; experience is gained

Students interested in drama at GIHS have many opportunities to further their talents in the Dramatics Department, under the direction of Mrs. Muriel Stalker. They may take the offered course in Drama I and II, depicted on this page.

Class time is spent in a study of all the phases of drama . . . what constitutes a good play and its production, how to evaluate performances and develop the individual skills, such as acting, designing sets, speaking, and directing.

First semester the potential actors and actresses study plays and productions. They make the set for the annual Purple Masque play, which this year was Frank Walton's "Green Valley." Second semester, acting and directing take the spot light in class as the students work on contest material. One act plays, poetry readings, oral interpretation, and cutting of plays are perfected for the district contests, and the Fine Arts Festival in Lincoln.

This year's projects included assemblies and a one-act play night in which the students presented the plays of their choice, under the supervision of a student director.

High above the stage, these dramatic students are learning which ropes pull the many curtains on the auditorium stage.

the purple and gold year's achievement presented by staff

Putting out the best yearbook ever was the chief objective of seventeen journalism students during the 1959-1960 year. The theme "The Time of Our Lives" was appropriately carried out on the division pages, in the art work, and in the copy the students wrote. The cover and paper were selected in May of the previous school year.

Third period was always a busy time spent working on the sections, dreaming up news ways to make money, and worrying about deadlines. The new staff members learned the first step in producing a section was planning a layout, then taking pictures, writing copy to carry out the theme, pasting

"We still need an action shot for this page." With one deadline met, sport editors, Steve Martin and Doug Robarchek instruct Purple and Gold photographer, Tay Schuff, as to what basketball picture they want.

Keeping track of the "green stuff" is chief concern of the advertising section editor, Nancy Peterson, business manager, Mary Ann Lassen, and advertising manager, Sue Weaver.

Debating who will get that candid shot of their favorite teacher are Judy Vohland, organizations editor; Neva Carstenson, school life editor; and Willa Hinrichs, academics editor.

A maze of pasting up pictures and checking lists of names, seems to be the project of the class editor, Peppy Wolbach, Susan Evans, and Ruth Scheffel.

up layouts, and finally, meeting the deadline. Money-raising projects for the year were holding hour dances, selling advertising to downtown businessmen, selling sports programs at the games, and publishing the Who's Who, the GIHS student directory.

Selected through interviews with the Publications Board, the staff members were Kathy Bishop, Judy Geer, Karen Meister, Doug Robarchek, Steve Martin, Tay Schuff, Sue Weaver, Mary Ann Lassen, Nancy Peterson, Patti Ewers, Karen Gehle, Susan Evans, Neva Carstensen, Judy Vohland, Willa Hinrichs, Peppy Wolbach, and Ruth Scheffel.

Final approval of the Fine Arts Section division page is given to art editor Karen Gehle, by fine arts editor, Patti Ewers, and Purple and Gold advisor, Mrs. Beye.

Sixth period is the time designated for this busy crew. Pasting up dummies, writing columns, counting headlines, and covering beats are all in a day's work for the Islander staff members.

By soliciting advertising from downtown business men and receiving assistance from the school's activity fund, its budget sometimes allows for extras, such as additional pages and the color picture at Christmas time.

One of the many highlights comes in March when the Islander staff takes over the duties of staff members of the Grand Island Daily Independent and publishes the paper for one day. Students in English 6-J relieve the regular staff from their tasks as they publish the Islander for one week.

The entire staffs of both the Islander and Purple and Gold attended the NHSPA Convention in Lincoln, to attend clinics and enter contests. Grand Island, for the first time, took the coveted Sweepstakes Award, the highest award given at the convention.

Many staff members such as third page editor, Mary McCormick, and editorial page editor, Mary Ray, are kept busy pasting up layouts to meet their deadlines.

Balancing books and figuring out how much money is needed for that six page edition is business manager Gene Muller, and Islander adviser, Mrs. Beye.

Sports Editor John Vautravers and Associate Editor Patsy Beckmann decide that John's column, "Sports Anyone?", should be seven column inches for the next edition.

Dorothy Kahn delivers the Islanders to Mr. Reith, one of the many duties she has as circulation and photo editor.

One of the major events of this year in the Home Economics Department was the reception held for Mrs. America and Mrs. Nebraska.

Buzzing machine and snipping scissors. That is the impression a person gets when walking into Mrs. Siebold's sewing class.

By looking around you can see skillful hands laying out patterns, cutting materials, and pressing cloth. You can see the material you saw in the yard goods shop take the shape of one of the stylish patterns that the fashion magazines advertise.

Sewing is not the only attribute of these girls. Through the course of study, they have learned good grooming, design, selection of clothing and patterns, and tailoring. With the aid of special films, and talks from special guests, they have added to their knowledge in their preparation for their future life as homemakers.

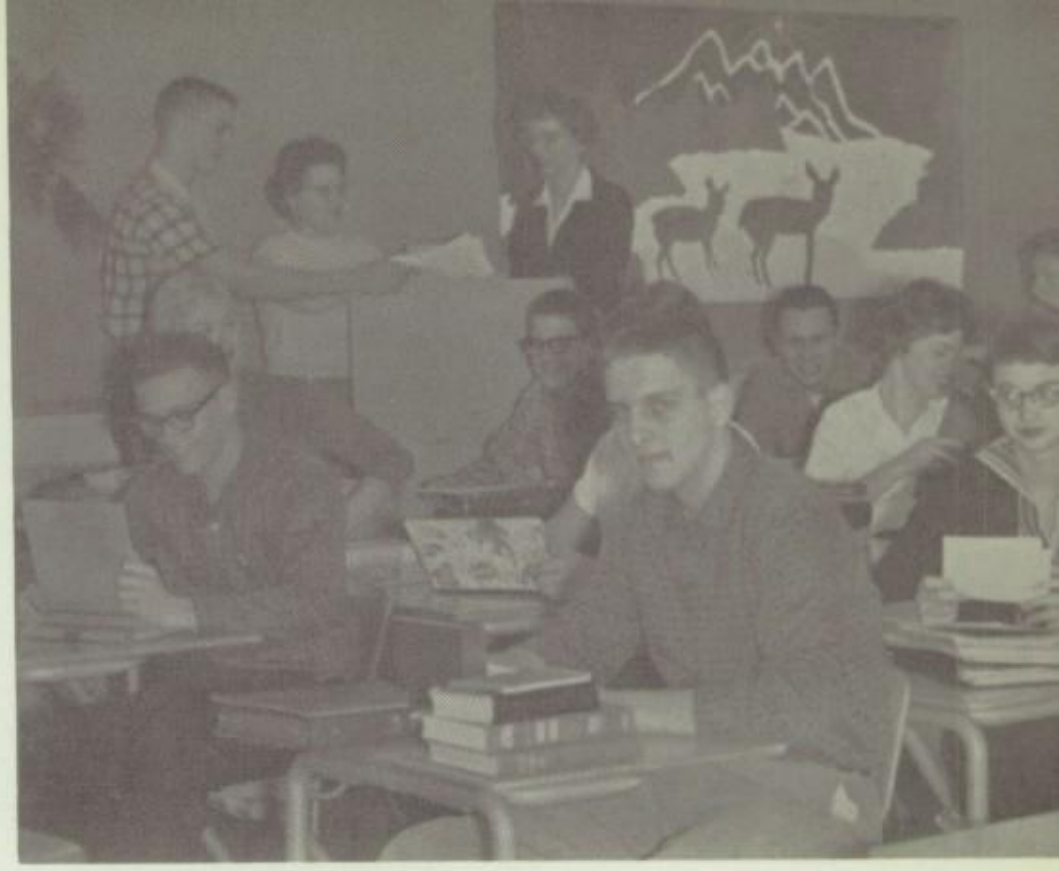
As sewing is Mrs. Siebold's department, Mrs. Dorothy Carver's department is foods.

Under her able direction, the girls are taught how to cook and plan balanced meals at a low cost. Their class time is spent learning the basic fundamentals and then applying them to the laboratory periods.

Special activities are on the agenda for them also, as they attended cooking schools, went on field trips, and had a gift wrapping demonstration at Christmas.

At Christmas, the two departments combined to have a tea for their mothers. The time was spent informally and each mother was presented a gift her daughter had made in her specific department.

An annual event is the Christmas Tea. Mothers are guests of honor and are presented with a gift made by their daughters.



Three-fourths of the time spent in debate class, is used in preparation for future contests.

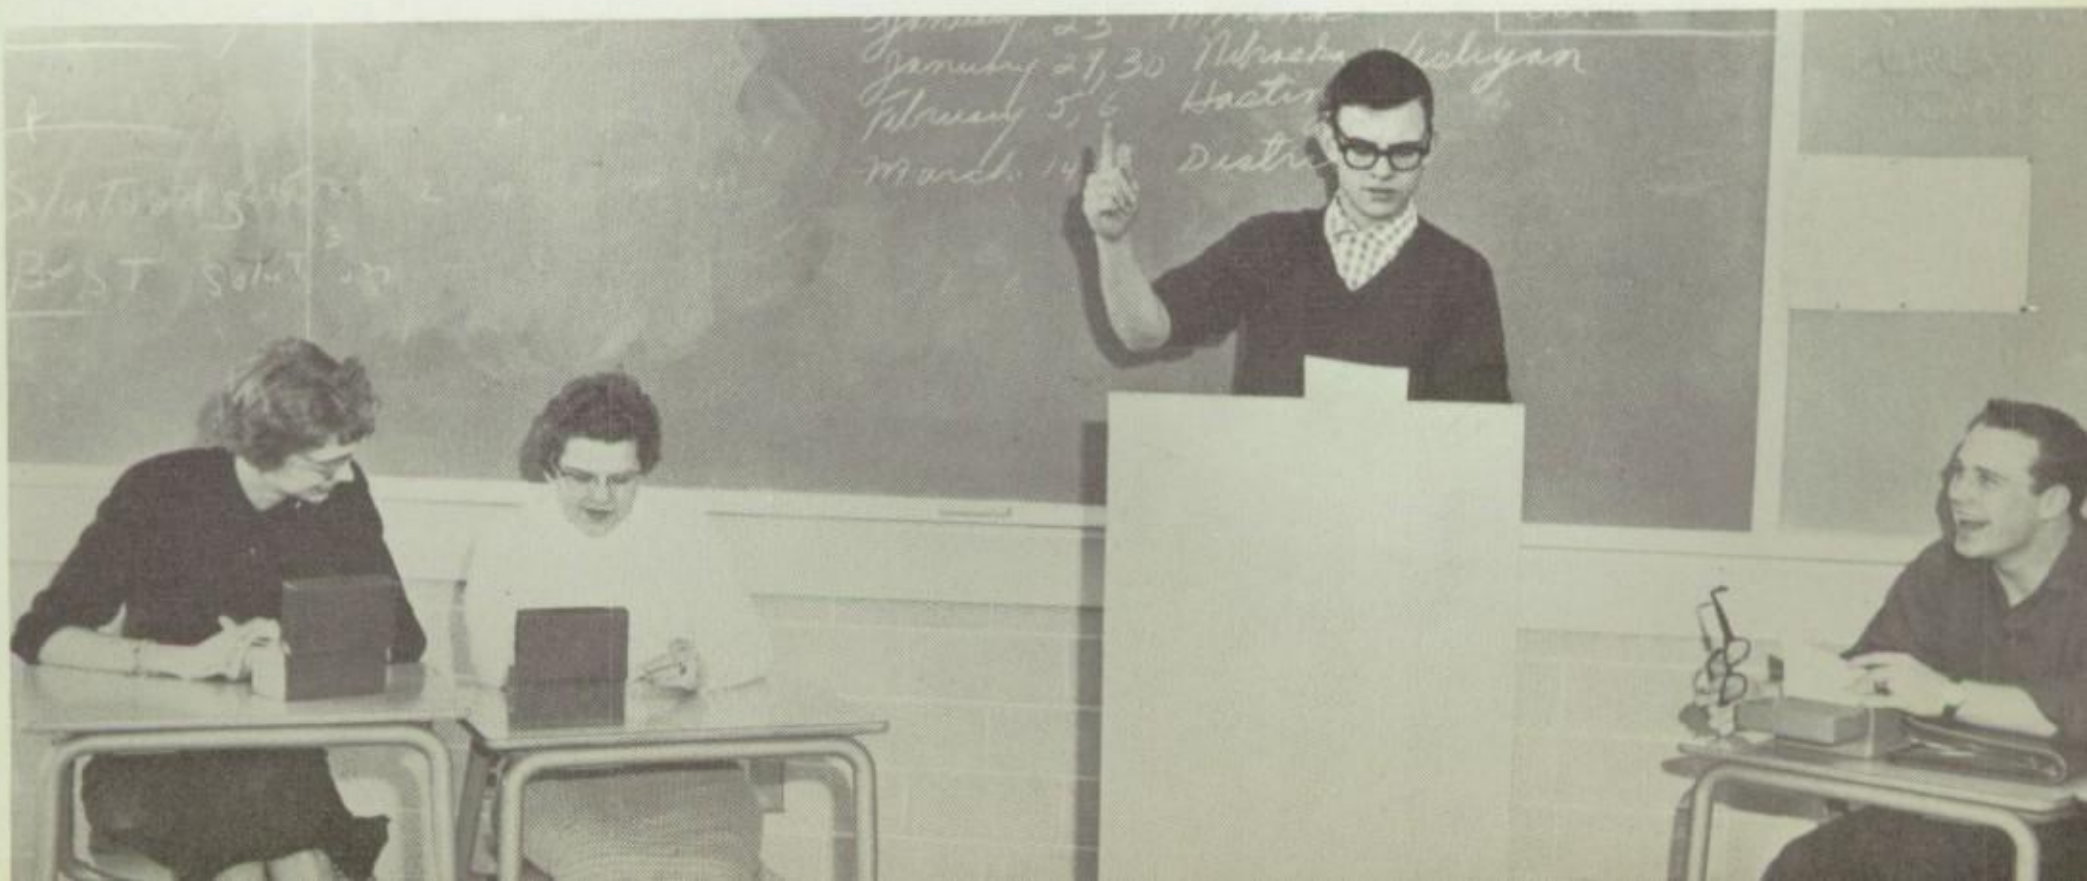
filibustering students
debating labor unions is topic for schools

Spending their time looking for information, learning terms, and making their card file, are the busy debate students. These students, with a flair for the oratory, spent three-fourths of class time in research on the year's debate topic. Materials used in debate are generally the current news magazines, although evidence can be obtained from various organizations.

This year's national topic is Labor Management and tournaments are entered on that subject. The criteria of logic, information, and delivery are used in the judging, but information is stressed as being the most important. The actual debate consists of a ten minute constructive speech, and a five minute rebuttal. The participating students work in pairs and debate every other round, alternating the affirmative with the negative.

The debaters, under the direction of Mrs. Colhapp, entered beginners' and varsity tournaments this year at Kearney, Hastings, and Wesleyan University and the Fine Arts Festival in Lincoln.

Students in debate learn contest procedures by actual debating during class. Jerry Lysinger and Ron Barbee, Sue Barber and Kayleen Yocum are two of the teams that have won contest honors.



The sophomore girls are at it again! This pantomime by seniors depicts a girl's first high school year's activities. . . chasing the senior boys. This scene was one of the many played in fun in the kick-off campaign assembly of the Purple and Gold.

Interests vary greatly from one person to another, just as night and day. To satisfy and cultivate these various interests is the purpose of the numerous organizations at Senior High.

Whether our interests lie in the field of art or sports there is a club to help stimulate these interests. These organizations are designed to help further develop the talents of the student.

Through these clubs a student learns to support the group through hard work and to receive unlimited enjoyment and satisfaction. A student also learns the meaning of responsibility, co-operation and loyalty.

As we, the Grand Island students, look back at our times spent in organizations, we'll see why these are our times to remember.

tradition of ages upheld

Staring off their second year, Thespians added 18 new members to their organization. A student must have a hundred hours of honor work to join this national honorary society.

Producing the play "Our Town" was their main project of the year. The play was cast entirely from the Thespian membership.

Thespians has a cabinet to guide the work and the members are divided into committees: Chosen as officers were: Kayleen Yocum, president; Doug Robarchek, vice-president; Kirk Schwieger, secretary; and Carol Page, treasurer. Sponsoring the organization is Mrs. Muriel Stalker.

dramatic endeavors sparked by members

By adding 45 new members, Purple Masque reached a new high this year. Membership was based on their performances and their work on crews during the annual Purple Masque play.

Highlighting the year was the production of "Green Valley," a comedy fantasy by Frank Walton. This offered a challenge to the crew members because of the sound, lighting and musical effects.

Other activities of the year were the completely new formal initiation ceremony, and working with Thespians to present two one act play nights.

Sponsoring the group is Mrs. Muriel Stalker, dramatics and English teacher. Officers for the year were: Jim Kemplin, president; Gene Muller, vice-president; Kirk Schwieger, secretary; and Dorothy Kahn, treasurer.

National Forensic League is the honorary society for people who are outstanding in speaking or debating.

To gain membership in the organization a student must have earned 25 points and appeared in public 12 times either speaking or debating.

Sponsoring the society is Mrs. Colhapp and Steve Swihart is the president.

To be a member of Quill and Scroll one must be in the upper one-third of his class, have outstanding journalistic talents and recommendations of the journalism adviser. He must have 50 inches of his work in the Islander or the Purple and Gold and membership is gained through an invitation by the society.

One of the most important organizations in Grand Island Senior High School is the Student Council. This student government body helps to build responsibility and promote citizenship.

One of the main undertakings of the Council this year was the State Student Council Convention, which was held in Grand Island. The council, working in committees, planned the activities for the convention.

Again this year, the Council promoted "An Orchid to the Parents" during American Education Week. Among other activities were the selling of book covers, pencils and postcards to help raise money.

Members of the Student Council are elected by their homerooms and serve for one semester. Sponsoring the group, which meets once a week, is Mr. Noel Lawrence.

"latineers" study romans

"Latineers" was the name given to the Latin club which was organized this year in Senior High. Getting organized and planning activities are the main goals of the Latin club for its first year.

Officers of the organization drew up a tentative constitution, stating the club's intention to follow the Roman holidays and celebrations throughout the year.

Another objective of the "Latineers" is to increase their knowledge of the Roman civilization.

Various activities were held during the year. These included a Halloween party, a candy-making party and the Latin club banquet. Candy sales were held to raise money for the group.

With the help of this money they joined the Junior Classical League, a national organization of Latin clubs.

One semester of Latin is necessary to qualify for membership in the organization. Sponsoring the group is Mrs. Dorcas Keig, Latin and English teacher. Officers for the year were Jackie Alber, president; Jim Kemplin, vice-president; and Antonia Poulos, secretary-treasurer.

phi psi goal:
stimulate interest

To stimulate interest in the fields of science and technology is the chief objective of Phi Psi, science club of GIHS. To accomplish this, each member is encouraged to present a personal science project to the organization.

Many activities were held during the year, highlighted by a visit to the planetarium in Hastings and a tour through the Crystal Sugar Plant.

Another project of Phi Psi was to commence the planning for the science fair of 1960 and 1961.

Elected as officers of the club were: Jon Larson, president; Kathy Bishop, vice-president; and Judy Geer, secretary-treasurer. Advising the group is Mr. William Smith, chemistry instructor. Phi Psi meets the first and third Mondays of each month.

. . . "Here's to GI!" This cry can be heard at our pep rallies and games. The varsity cheerleaders this year added pep and school spirit to our various activities whether we were victorious or defeated.

At the end of each school year the student body elects the seven cheerleaders, who are sponsored by Miss Willa Lewis.

Captain for the cheerleaders this year was Gretchen Gaines, a senior. Hour dances and the sale of salt water taffy were among the various activities the group sponsored this year.

Any boy who has lettered in any sport can be a member of the Lettermen's Club.

To promote and perpetuate the athletic program of GIHS is the main purpose of the organization.

This year the Lettermen wore white shirts and black slacks on game days and sat as a group at the games and pep rallies.

At the annual spring banquet, awards were given for service and leadership. Other activities were the two initiations held in the fall and in the spring and the planning of the varsity-alumni and varsity-faculty basketball games. Lettermen assisted with the Big Ten wrestling meet in G. I.

Advising the group is Mr. Bert Alfrey with the help of the other athletic coaches. Officers for the year were Bob Wagner, president; Steve Lockwood, vice-president; Jim Kahrhoff, treasurer; Larry Willis, secretary; and Alan Ewoldt, sergeant-at-arms.

Helping to support school sports, activities and promote all around school spirit is the main objective of the GI Jets.

New Jets go through a trial period before being initiated. At the initiation, the new Jets are initiated in a solemn candlelight ceremony.

Jets provide peppy posters and decorations for the halls on the days of the games. Besides the decorations, the Jets held a car wash, a bake sale, and candy sales and sold sweatshirts to raise money for the organization.

Planning, decorating and sponsoring the football and basketball dances were the major projects of the year for the Jets. They also honored the fathers of the team during football season and the mothers of the basketball boys during the basketball season.

At a banquet in the spring the new Jet officers were revealed. Sponsoring the group is Miss Shirley Anderson.

relaxation through recreation objective for club's program

Combining time for fun and time for betterment of athletic skills, Teens for Fun is open for membership to any GIHS student.

It is the purpose of TFF to provide healthful and wholesome activities for students and to bring relaxation after a hard day of school.

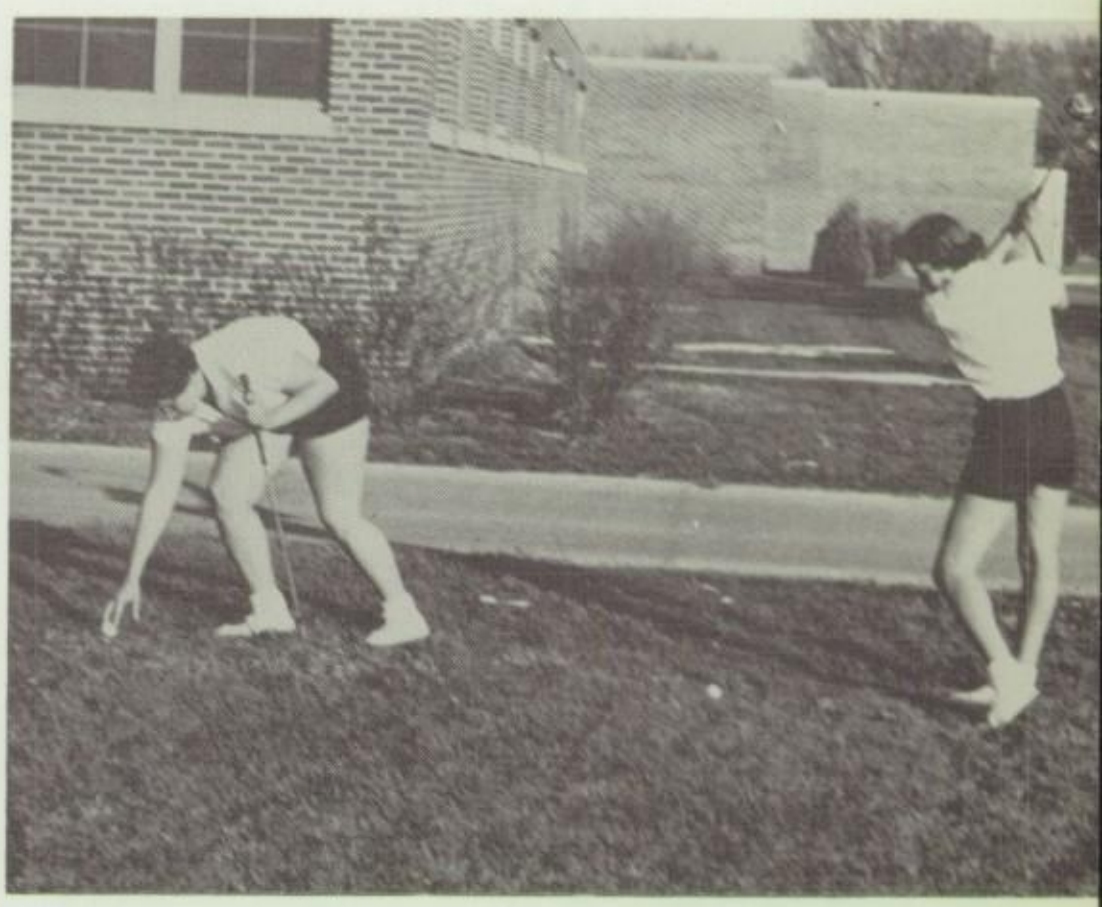
There are sports and activities to satisfy everyone's interests. Some of the various activities open are archery, volleyball, tumbling, badminton and ping pong. This year golf matches were held at the various country clubs.

Starting off the year was a pot luck supper. After the meal, the junior and senior girls helped initiate the incoming sophomores. The remainder of the evening was spent enjoying a variety of games.

This year the group was under the co-sponsorship of Miss Willa Scudder and Miss Lois Wasser. Miss Scudder acts as counselor and girls physical education teacher. Miss Wasser joined the faculty this year as girls physical education teacher.

Playing games was only part of the fun of the TFF pot luck supper.

That extra point can often mean the difference between victory and defeat. Preparing to add to her team's score is Liz Williams, TFF Basketball captain.



"Fore!" cries Linda Foster as she and Pat Waldo "tee off" during one of their golf practices.

"Rome wasn't built in a day!" But perhaps this pyramid will be if all goes well for these tumblers. Tumbling is just one of the many activities enjoyed by the members of TFF.

"klod-kicker's"

ffa stimulates interest. in agricultural careers

Stimulation of interest towards the selection of an occupation related to agriculture is the main objective of the Future Farmers of America.

Through a planned program of work, the FFA encourages and helps members develop good supervised farming programs, develop leadership and improve scholarship.

Membership in the FFA requires that the student have a class in Voc-Ag, a keen interest in agriculture and serve an apprenticeship as a "greenhand".

This year to acquaint their parents with the FFA program, the members held a Parent-Son banquet and Open House.

The annual Klod Kicker's Jubilee was the highlight of the FFA social calendar. An evening of hearty square dancing was climaxed by the crowning of the FFA Sweetheart and her attendants.

Mr. Will Wakefield, Voc-Ag instructor, sponsors the organization, which meets one Tuesday night a month.

Athletics—for the athletes?

No, sports are for everyone, and everyone is affected by them. Sports is not entirely for the players, but also for the avid rooters in the stands.

But, even though athletics are not just for the athlete, still one could say that sports are for the sportsman. There is no place in athletics for a poor loser or boastful winner, whether player or fan.

Sports, therefore, when fulfilling their real purpose, instill a feeling of win-or-lose sportsmanship, while providing a good time.

And time, whether it is running out on the clock over the basket or rushing by on the gridiron, is a vital part of sports.

On the field or in the bleachers, "The Time of Our Lives" is had by all.

Dear Kay,
It's been fun knowing you this year. Hope we meet again next year and have a few classes together. Best of everything to a real sweet girl.
Be good,
Judy Reber

islanders' gridiron record shows trials and triumphs

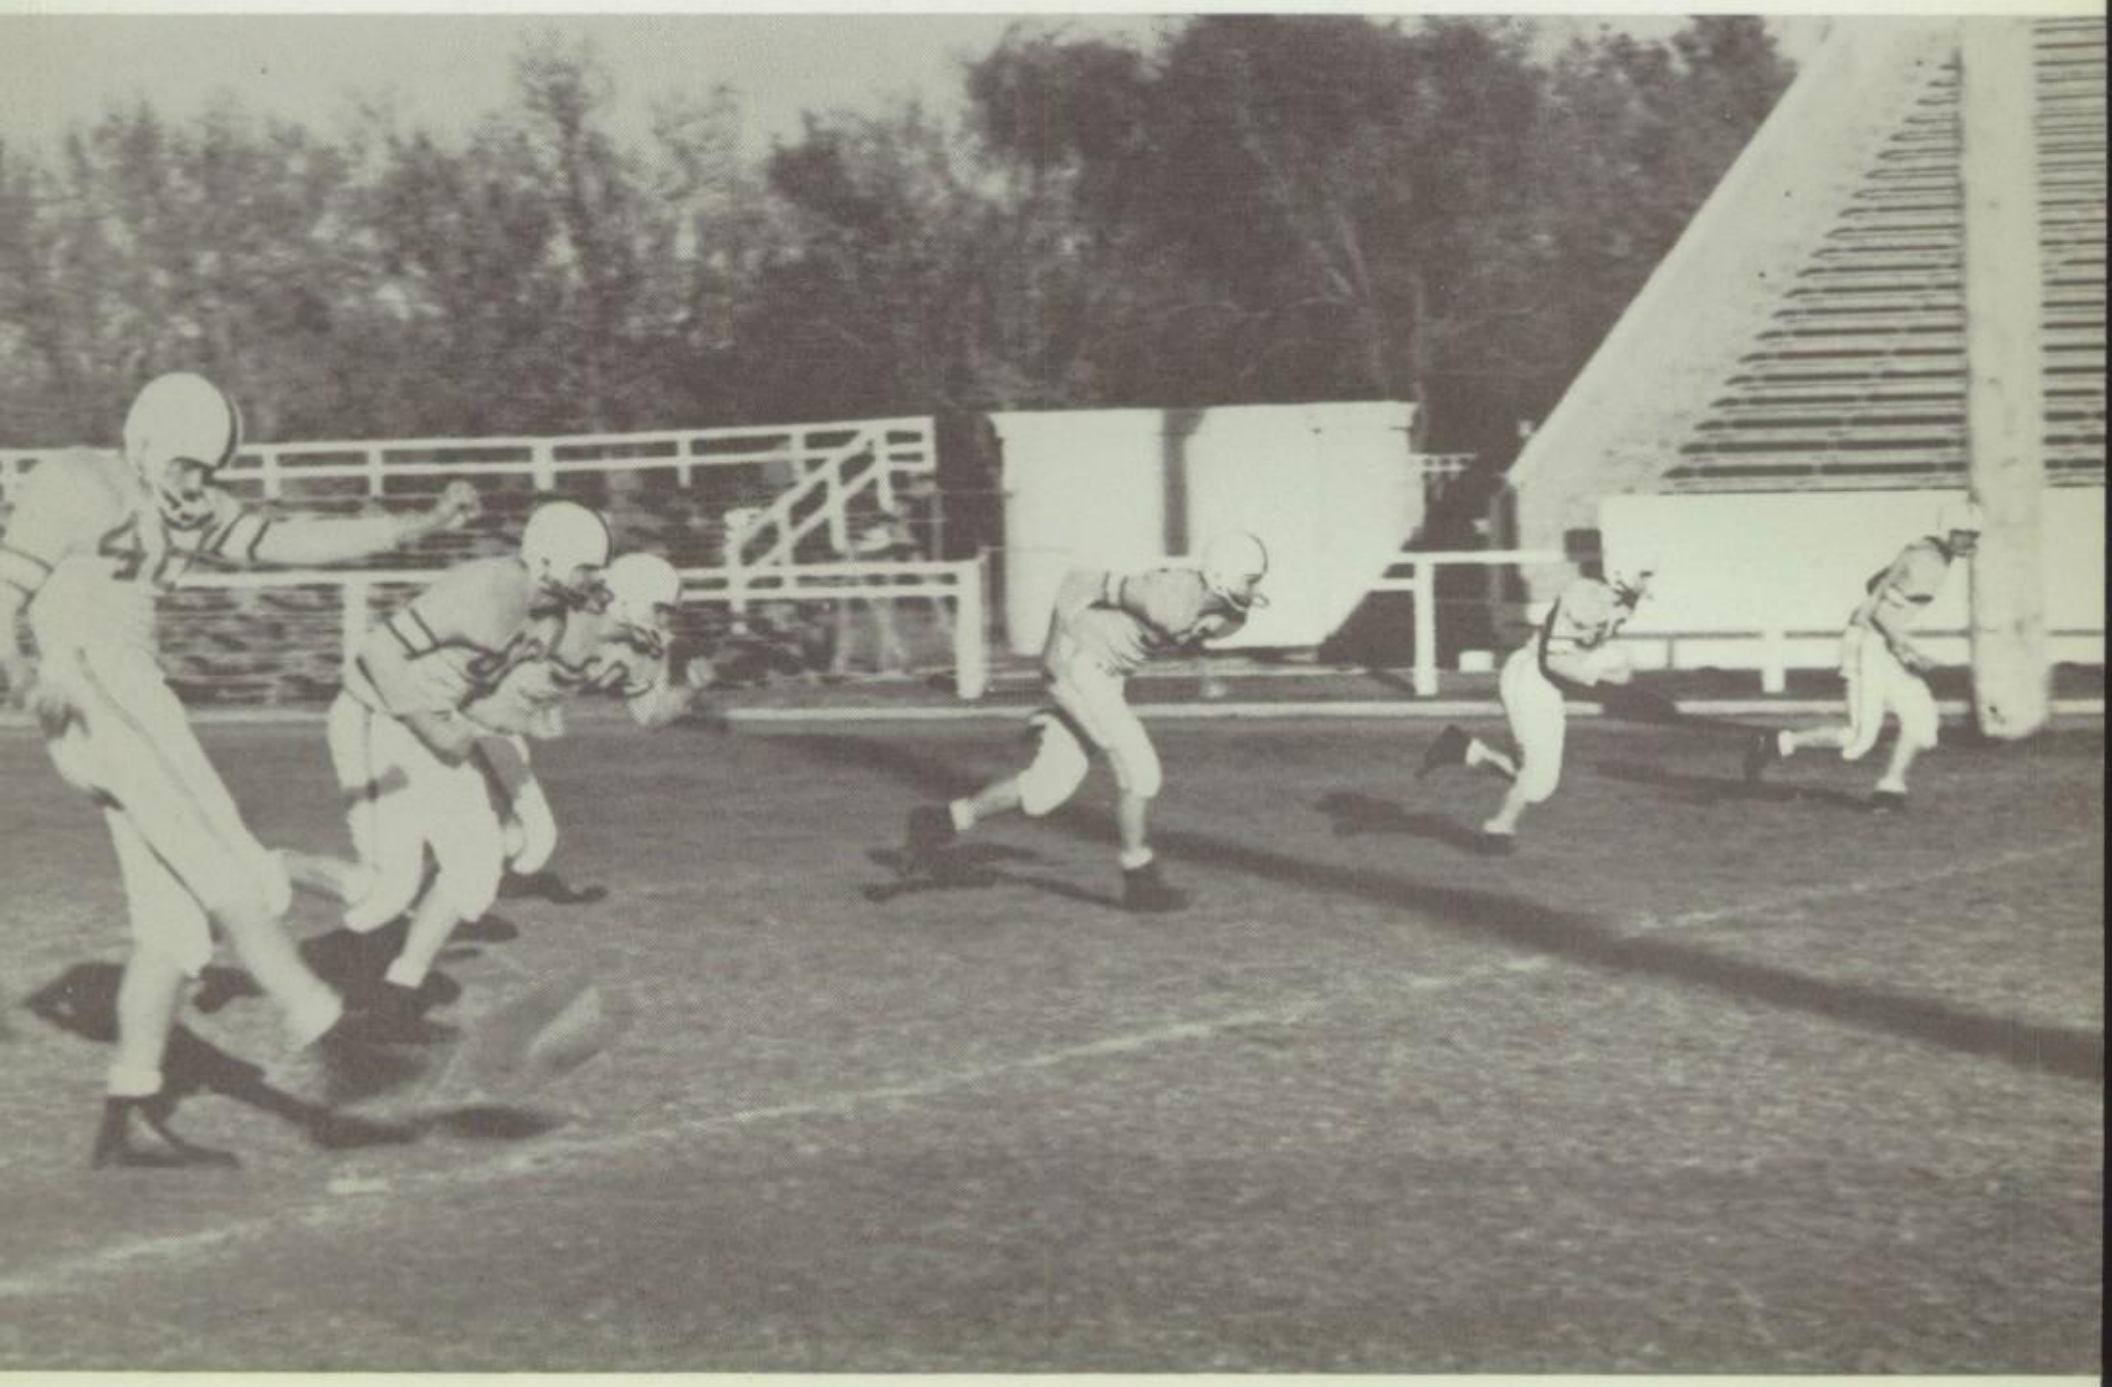
Grand Island's football season, though rather a mediocre one, was not without its moments of glory. The team, scoring in spurts, was nevertheless always a tight, unpredictable unit.

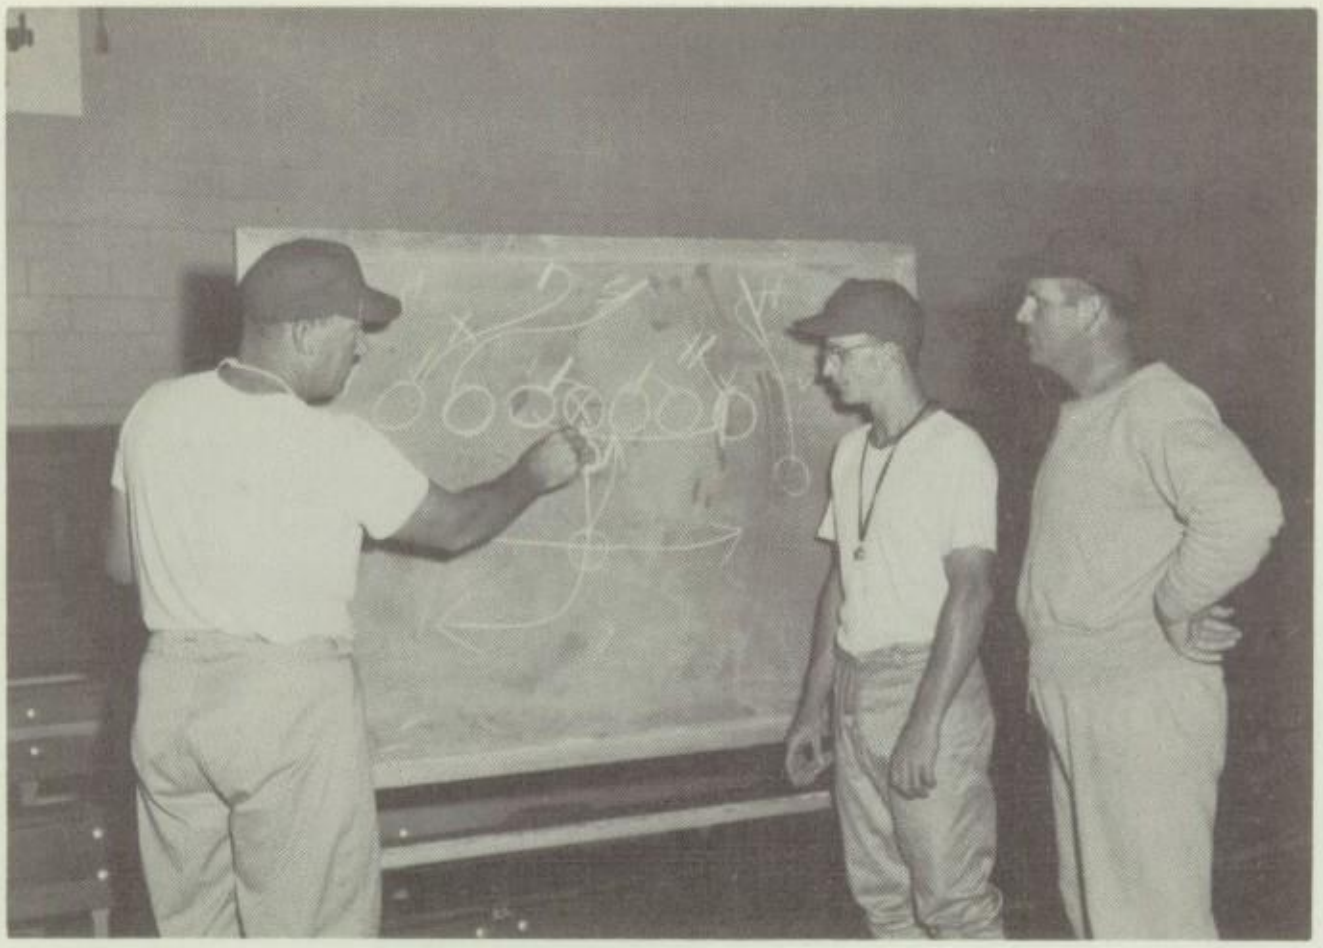
With only one returning regular, senior Bob Wagner, this was what is termed a "building" season for the Islanders. Even so, the junior and sophomore-laden squad showed real polish on occasion and at their peak defeated Columbus 26-0.

There were low points in the season too; the loss to Lincoln 35-13, and the heartbreaker with western rival Scottsbluff 6-0.

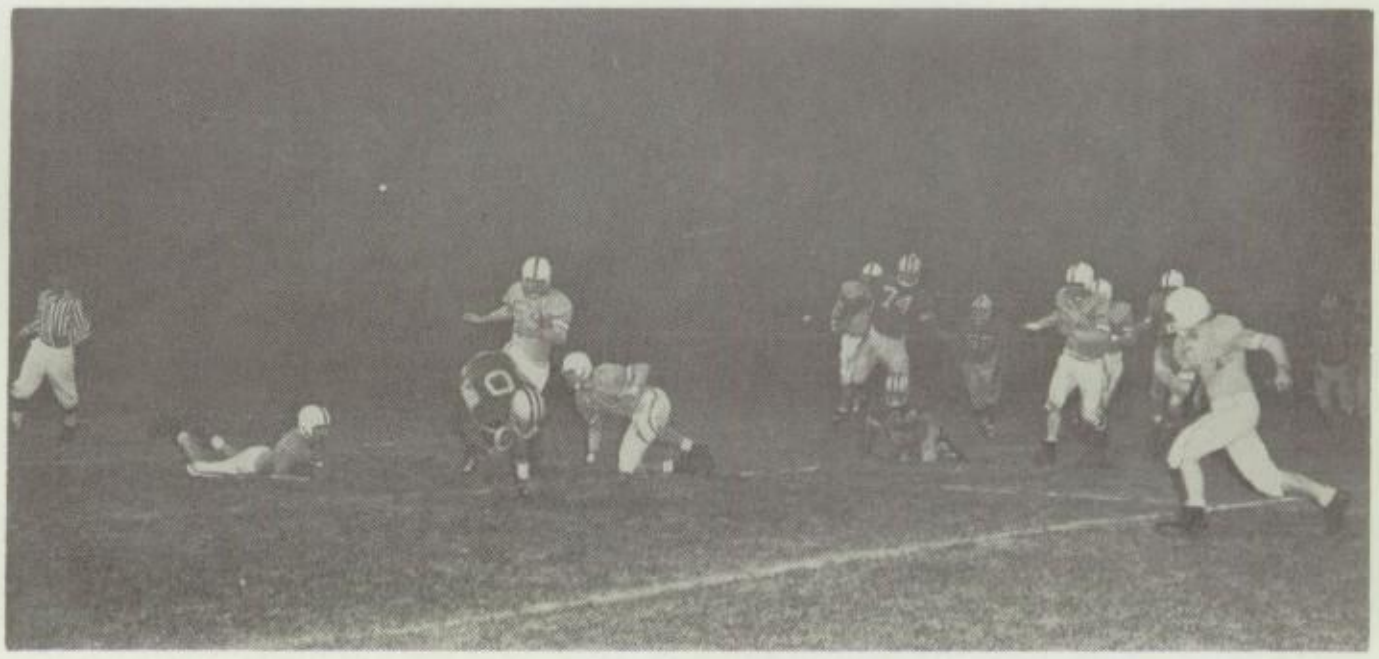
The third city team looked good in losing their first game, as strong Kearney was held to 6-0. It is generally agreed, however, that those games would have had quite a different score if GI had been at their acme through the season. If, of course, is the losing team's invariable retort. However, the fact remains that if Grand Island had gotten the breaks, if we had not suffered crucial injuries, the 1959-60 record might well have shown 8-0.

A long one booted by McDonald opens GI's unpredictable season.





Randall and Evans listen intently as Coach Moerer explains Islander razzle dazzle.



Where to go now? That's the question as gold-shirted Islanders surround their opponents.

"Is that guy on his knees?" No, it's little Schweiger (31), picking up 10 more yards.

Grand Island opened up 1959 with a 6-0 loss to Kearney. The Moerermen pulled off a minor victory by holding powerful Kearney to one counter, which came on a 75-yard run by Bearcat Murrish. Meanwhile, the Islander offensive attack was hindered by four fumbles, two of which were inside the Kearney ten yard line, and all were recovered by the Hub City crew.

Then, on September 18, the Islanders traveled to Scottsbluff, put together a fine game against the solidly favored Bearcats, only to lose once more by a 6-0 count. Neither team could seem to move the ball well, except for Scottsbluff's first quarter scoring drive. With improved ball handling, and the unusual tight defense, GI again could have taken the game with breaks and more experience.

In the Lincoln Northeast game the score was the same, but the outcome different. The Third Citians scored their first points of the season, a touchdown coming on a recovered fumble on the 32-yard line of Northeast, capped with a scoring drive carrying Wagner over with the ball. The 6-0 score gave the fighting Islanders new hope, and all eyes looked to Columbus.

Columbus, East Big Ten champ last year, was confronted with the fire-breathing Islander squad, and the score, 26-0, is enough to tell the story of the game. Three more Bob Wagner's T. D.'s, one coming on a pass from quarterback Jim Price, and a fourth-quarter plunge by Charlie Schwieger accounted for the scoring.

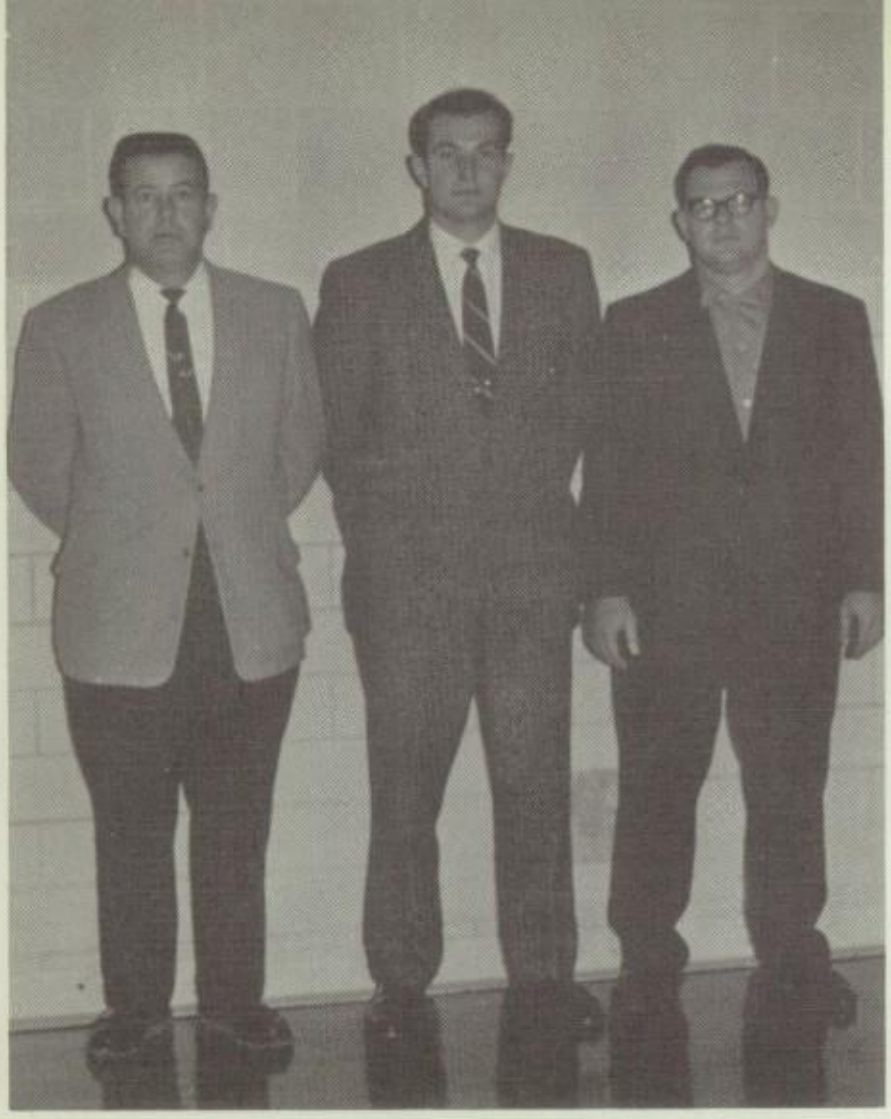
The Lincoln High game saw the Islanders beaten 34-14 by Zollicoffer and company. The Purple and Gold ran and passed indiscriminately behind a powerful line, unable to gain on the ground. The Islanders scored twice, however, to prove that Lincoln was not invincible, once on a one yard plunge by Gerald Meier, and once on a Price pass to end Dave McDonald. Both conversions were kicked by Larry Willis.

The power-packed Panthers from Norfolk, sparked by a flashing backfield combination, crushed the offense-minus Islanders 32-0 in the worst defeat in eight years.

GI launched a three-game winning streak, the longest of the season with 19-6 defeat of North Platte. Twelve points by Dave Willman sparked the Islanders to their comeback victory.

In a wild contest at Hastings, the Islander crew extended their victory string with a 7-0 win. The Tigers were never able to reach Islander territory. Schwieger, Willman and Meier plunged through the line for consistent yardage, and end McDonald made fine catches of Price tosses.

The season came to an end unexpectedly with the Fremont game. GI was able to end on a note of victory, because the Westside game was canceled. The scoring came entirely on Price passes and conversions by Larry Willis. Meier rushed for an 8.3 average, in 17 tries. Grand Island finished on top of a 21-19 score, closing the '59 season with a 5-4 record.



The Junior Varsity squad was capably directed during the season by Coaches Gaines, Lievense and Stalker.

Junior Varsity fought the Hastings reserves to a 6-6 deadlock in the first game of the season. The score came on a blocked kick on the four-yard line, which was carried over the next play by Sophomore Halfback Darrell Roberts.

Kearney's tally came first, on a long punt return by the safety. Standouts for the junior Islanders in the game were Carmel Melgoza at fullback, quarterback punter Jim Beltzer, and Jim Etherton in the line.

the third quarter when the Tiger Club broke up the game with two TD's.

Once again the hard-hitting reserves were defeated, and once again the score was a shut-out, when the North Platters hit them to a tune of 14-0. The game was better than the score indicated, however, and there was no lack of heroes. A dazzling 36 yard run by Gary Catlett, and the fine play in the line by Gary Purvis, Rick Harwager, and Harold Harlow allowed the Islander offense to remain a constant threat.

The flashy Islanders' well-balanced scoring attack sent invading Beatrice down in the season opener December 18. This was the first of a three game series in which the Islanders won each game by at least 20 points. G. I. topped Beatrice by 57-37.

Steve Lockwood, a workhorse for G. I. all season, led scoring for the team with 15 points. Jim Kahrhoff was second with 13, playing a great defensive game. Jim Price also scored in double figures and Jack Juel finished with 8.

Fremont and Lexington followed with little difficulty. The victory streak was extended to four with a win over highly rated Columbus. The Islander five starters scored in double figures, Price leading with 14.

Kearney eked out a three point win to break the winning string. Juel lead the scoring with 11 points, following Alan Ewoldt and Lockwood with 10 each.

The score of the season's second straight setback, 50-45, was suffered at the hands of Lincoln Southeast. Price lead the attack with 14 points. Grand Island started its reputation of winning the close ones by beating Fremont 31-30 on Lockwood's two free throws in the closing seconds.

Playing without the service of hustling senior Ewoldt, Grand Island was defeated by the familiar one point margin by North Platte, 43-42. Traveling to Norfolk, the Islanders picked up another win by a slim two point margin. Hero for the game was Kahrhoff who scored 9 points and cleared the boards for 25 rebounds helping the score of 52-39.

Last year's faultering State Champs., Lincoln High, were the next victims of the clutch-playing Alfrey crew. The win came on free throws by Lon Willis in the closing seconds. Juel showed some of his late season form, piling up 16 points. Sophomore stalwart Bill Marshall added nine.

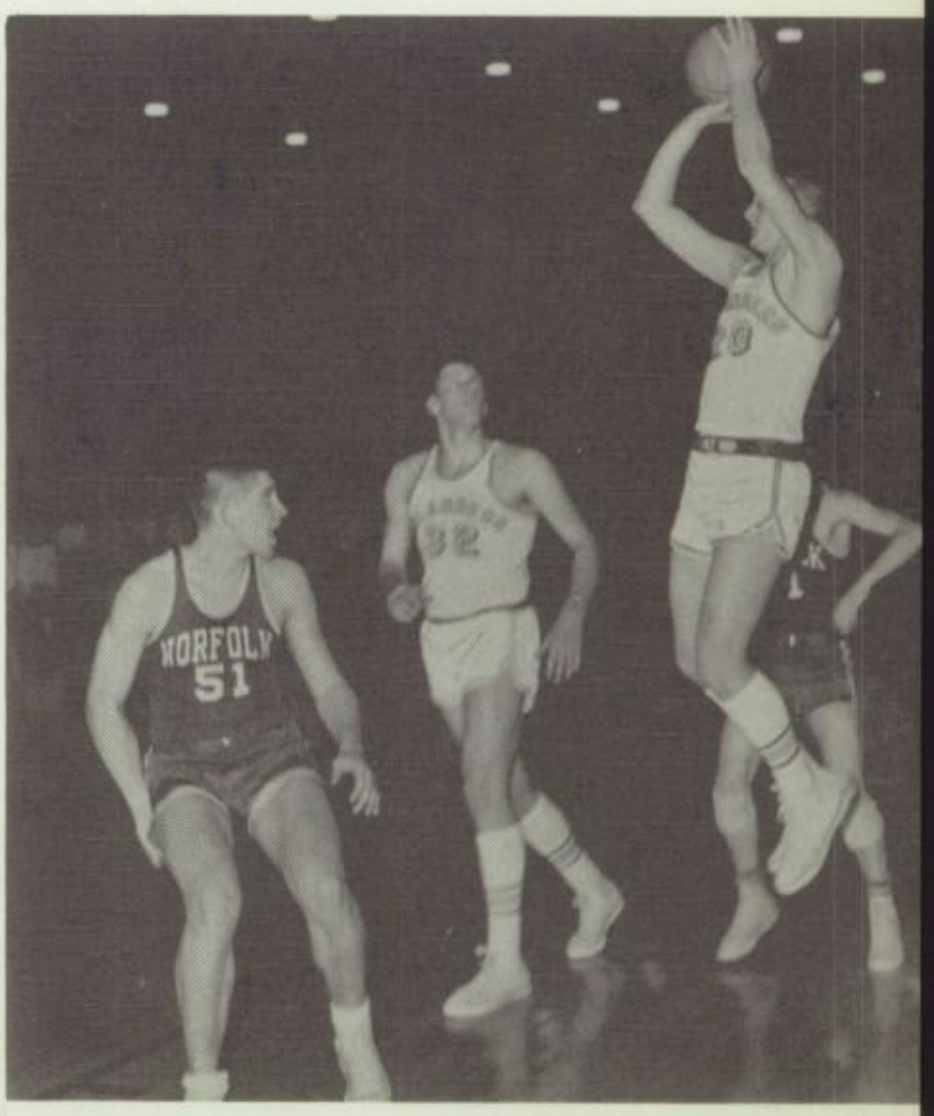
The first game with Hastings Tigers ended with G. I. on top of a 69-60 score. All conference star Juel pumped in 36 points for a new school record. The Islanders dropped an overtime decision in their next outing at Lincoln Northeast, after seeing a ten point lead evaporate in the final quarter.

The Norfolk game set Larry Willis in the role of hero. A last second foul gave Willis two shots. Despite all the pressure, with the score tied 60-60, he calmly sank the first shot after regulation play was over. GIHS pulled another close game out of the bag in the second match with Columbus.

Hastings was again sent down in defeat, as the Islanders completed an undefeated season in conference play. Juel led scoring in the 51-45 contest with 18 points. Grand Island went on to prove themselves the power team of the Big Ten, winning the first East-West Conferencee crown since 1952.



The Islanders were beaten in the District Tournament finals by Norfolk, a team they won over twice in regular play.

The fine reserve team finished with a season record of 12-2, led by the scoring of Dave McDonald. Coach Gale Randel's Junior Varsity squad was a well-balanced unit, with three boys scoring well over a hundred points each for the season. Lamoine Kneflekamp and Ron Wiese followed closely behind McDonald in the scoring department.

cross country

new sport requires stamina, endurance

Coach Marc Boesen's rookie harriers made an admirable showing this season as Grand Island made her debut in the new sport. This sport is probably one of the toughest of all, calling for great stamina and endurance. The two-mile run is usually made on golf courses, where hills and other obstacles are found.

The team finished third in a field of five at the Kearney Invitational, with Dave Linder, junior trackman, finishing third out of 41 runners. Linder continued to be the consistent high-finisher for the squad until his injury, later in the season.

Watch for this to be a rising sport at GIHS, with a larger turnout of boys expected next year.

perfect artistry

A relatively new sport at GIHS is gymnastics, under the direction of a new coach, Mr. Ken Kohler. The team was a strange mixture of youth and age, beginners and veterans. It was made up of Sophomores and Seniors, and there should be some good performances turned in by the Sophomore half next year.

Meets with Omaha Benson, Hastings, Lincoln S. E., Lincoln N. E., and Lincoln High, proved helpful in preparing them for the State Meet, in which three boys placed. A Sophomore, Ron Tyler, took an eighth place in the rope climb, graduating letterman Larry Arvidson captured eighth on the parallel bars, and three-year standout Steve Swihart placed tenth in two events, the high bar and the free exercise.

An unexpected but welcome addition to the squad this year was German exchange student Ulrich Ostarhild.

One of the top performers for the gymnastics team was three year letterman Steve Swihart.

Studies, dances, work, parties, and athletic contests—these are all included in the everyday happenings of a Grand Island High School senior. But, they do not describe well enough the preparation, planning, and guidance which have filled our twelve years, and aided us in becoming the citizens that we are today.

We have many moments to cherish, and many things yet to be accomplished as each of us begins his future way of life.

Upon receiving his diploma, each of us will become aware of a completion of our former activities, and an opening into the big, wonderful world that is filled with possibilities, opportunities, downfalls, accomplishments, and successes, which cause the years to come to be represented by question marks in our minds.

seniors anticipate foresee review

During our sophomore and junior years, we had many good times, but our senior year is really "The Time of Our Lives."

This year began with the election of senior class officers: Carroll Lucht, president; Lonny Willis, vice-president; and Mary Ann Lassen, secretary-treasurer. These students along with Mr. Edmund Werner, senior class sponsor, have made several important decisions for the class.

A glance into college life was made possible for those students who plan to attend college. On October 13 all college preparatory students went to

We spent some cold hours watching the football games in which the senior boys played such an important part; cheers echoed throughout the gym during basketball, wrestling, and gymnastics season; with the coming of spring we were all glad to have an excuse for being outside, and to see golf, tennis, and track meets.

Junior year is a wonderful time! We find the puzzle now fitting together and see ourselves no longer beginners and not quite leaders, but JUNIORS! At this time we show the sophomores who's boss, but still we know that all the responsibility of leadership is not at our doorstep.

There is also that maximum feeling of security that graduation is still a long year off, and this year is going to be spent having lots of fun.

The junior year is the time when many get their driver's licenses and a chosen few experience County Government Day. Also this year includes the big initiations, such as Jets' and Lettermen's, and, last but not least, the ordering of class rings.

We find this to be "The Time of Our Lives"; the time when we, as juniors, can confidently look forward to being the class of 1961!!

Juniors

Class rings are just one of the important events of the junior year. . . although the girls seem to like the larger sizes.

the eleventh year

juniors anticipate assuming leadership

During the past eleven years these energetic juniors have gained, through experience, the knowledge and skills needed for their coming responsibilities.

Throughout the years they have worked and participated in many school organizations. They have provided their full share of leadership and have gained many honors in these organizations.

Scholastically, the class ranked above average in achievement. In addition to the required courses they chose their electives in consideration of the years ahead.

In a social way, juniors are never lacking for fun and amusement.

By these works the juniors have been continually learning and preparing to be tomorrow's leaders when they will become the graduating class of 1961.

After the iniation of junior girls into the Jet organization, plans are made to "get even".

"We are the 'J' kids, winners of the sweepstakes!" Victorious juniors of the journalism department, leave the state convention in Lincoln for the long trip home.

annual activity

county government day gives new experience

On County Government Day, October 20, 22 junior students from GIHS, along with students from five other Hall County schools, began their activities at the courthouse. They filed their certificates of election, received identification cards, and then assembled in the District Court, where they were officially welcomed.

In the first part of the morning they visited their appointed offices, and then returned to the courtroom to watch a "mock" trial presented by the Hall County Bar Association.

Dr. Glenn Lundstrom was the guest speaker at the luncheon served to the students at the Legion Hall.

In the afternoon the student officials returned to office and were instructed more fully in their duties. Before the close of the afternoon, they assembled to review the events of the day and to report to the group on their respective offices.

Cornhusker Boys' and Girls' County Government Day is an annual activity of the Junior Class. It is sponsored by the American Legion Club and takes place in the various counties throughout the state.

An exciting experience for the juniors is the annual Cornhusker's Girls' and Boys' county government day.

History was made this year, when the largest sophomore class in the history of GIHS was ushered into a new way of school life.

With wild anticipation we registered and then wandered the halls looking for the right rooms on the first day of school. The fear and thrill of the first initiation, the air of excitement surrounding the first big game, and the anxiety of getting the first report cards are all part of the sophomore activities.

But the sophomore year also involves a lot of hard work and concentrated study which will reward us enormous dividends in the future. We are the leaders of tomorrow. High goals and standards will pay off when today's sophomores are the seniors and leaders of 1962.

eager, apprehensive

sophomores look to high school for knowledge and entertainment

Uneasiness was detected as we went forward as sophomores to the "Time of Our Life" in high school.

We were faced with many problems as we entered the large and beautiful school. Selecting subjects, finding the right rooms, and getting lost kept us busy during the first weeks.

Election of the sophomore cheerleaders was the first big event of the first year. The five girls were chosen by the student body to represent us as "B" squad cheerleaders.

Deciding in which organizations our interests and talents lay took a great deal of thought. The excitement of considering all the varied clubs and activities prolonged our decisions, but after choices were made we went through the traditional "privilege" of being initiated.

As the year closes we complete another year on our academic training and find ourselves drawing even closer to the day when we will mount the stage to receive our diplomas.

"Sophomore night" brings many parents to school to talk with teachers. Mrs. Thomas Stuart and Mr. and Mrs Russell Snyder are enjoying their visit with Mr. Hein and Mr. Alfrey in the teacher's study.

concentrated study

In planning a three-year curriculum, each student is required to include in his course majors in social science and English.

One which is required in the sophomore year is world history. In this class we learned the rise and fall of the great civilizations of the world, the history of nations, and the world wars.

English, also required of sophomores, stresses grammar and literature. Late in the year one issue of the "Islander" was put out by English 4J class, a course introduction to journalism for sophomores.

Some course of math is also required in our sophomore year; a selection of general math, algebra, and geometry is offered.

In physical education we learned many new skills and enjoyed such activities as gymnastics, volleyball, dancing, and riflery. After much thought and careful consideration, we elected subjects in addition to those required and settled down to concentrated study.

friends + fun = success

"I may not be any Marilyn Monroe or Rock Hudson, but. . . " these sophomores write their autobiographies for the counselors' records.

A challenge to all these new and greater responsibilities.

We encountered these in our first year in high school.

A new experience lay before us from the first day. It became our duty to learn the true meaning of concentrated study and to expect only the grades we had earned.

Although the class of 1962 is large, it is made up of individuals who will determine the success of the class.

By exhibiting good citizenship in our high school, we will be prepared to be better citizens of our community.

These hungry sophomore girls just couldn't wait; they filled their trays before the first student lunch dismissal.

School Life

A whirl of time spent in learning and teamwork, moments to remember . . . these are the things that make up the School Life section in the yearbook.

When we look through our yearbook in years to come, we will be seeing events which will always remain important and meaningful to us. Our main purpose at Senior High is education, but we are a community in ourselves, and a community cannot survive without social life.

Thus, the School Life section is a gathering of such social happenings as formal and informal dances, special events, plus the everyday activities around school.

Now, as we turn through the School Life pages we will understand why these years are remembered as "The Time of Our Lives."

p & g purchasers elect their royalty

For the second time in GIHS history, you have again chosen a yearbook queen and her attendants.

Chosen to be queen of the 1959-1960 Yearbook was Pat Kelly, and her attendants are Mary Lou Evans, Willa Hinrichs, Judy Meves, and Gloria Voss.

Nominated by the annual staff, the girls were selected on the qualities of personality, scholarship interest, and participation in school activities. After being nominated their names were printed on the ballots so purchasers of their annuals could mark their choice.

Pat is a college prep student. She is the vice-president of Modern Music Masters, treasurer of Jets, a member of Y-Teens, choir, Senior Madrigal and one of the small group.

Mary Lou, as are the rest of the attendants, is a college prep student. She is a member of Jets, Y-Teens and of Choir.

Willa is home room secretary, a member of Quill and Scroll, Jets, and the Academic's Editor of the Purple and Gold.

Being a member of Paletteers, Jets, and of Y-Teens, are among Judy's interests.

Gloria is the chairman of the Finance Committee of Jets, and a member of Y-Teens.

harvest of harmony annual parade held

October 10, 1959, marked the 18th annual Harvest of Harmony parade, with forty bands from central Nebraska high schools participating. The GIHS band hosted the visiting bands.

In the afternoon, following the parade, the bands and their candidates assembled at the stadium for performance and appearance ratings as Superior, Excellent, Good and Average. To competing bands were awarded ribbons, with judges classifying the bands as class A, B, C, and D.

Miss Rogene Rembolt was hostess to the Harvest of Harmony queen candidates from the surrounding towns. Rogene, a senior at Grand Island High School, is a varsity cheerleader, a college prep student, and a member of choir and of GI-Y-HI.

Chosen as Harvest of Harmony queen was Miss Kay Schwenk of St. Paul. The Misses Margaret Vaclk of Ravenna and Jacque Lamore of Kenesaw were selected as her attendants. The judging was based on beauty and personality.

Amid the enchanted music of the Ed Lechner Combo, in an underwater paradise scene, the 1959 Football Queen was crowned. Miss Susan Evans was chosen to be queen with the Misses Patti Ewers and Karen Gehle selected as her attendants.

Escorting the queen and her attendants to the throne were Carroll Lucht and Alan Ewoldt, honorary co-captains and Jack Juel, the President of the Student Council.

Sponsored by the GI Jets, the Football dance carried out the theme of an "underwater paradise" by underwater scenes, fish nets draped from the ceiling and scattered sea shells.

Before the introduction of the Football team, and the co-captains, by Mr. Moerer, entertainment was supplied by a vocal solo by Pat Kelly, a trumpet solo by George Eychner, and an interpretation of underwater jazz by LaDonna Trueman and Mary Lou Evans. Introducing each part of the program was Steve Swihart, Master of Ceremonies.

yuletide gaiety brings parties, seasonal rulers

Reigning Christmas royalty this year as Miss Merry Christmas and Mr. Happy New Year were Miss Judy Geer, and Mr. George Eychner.

Chosen by the Islander staff, both are typical of the Senior High School students.

Judy's favorite past time is reading. She is a College Prep student with a career in science planned. She is a member of Jobs Daughters, Modern Music Masters and a Senior Girl Scout. She also belongs to Senior Madrigal, Girls Quartet and is secretary of Phi-Psi.

Among the extracurricular activities of George's are Music Masters, participation in GIHS's band and in the Methodist Church Youth Choir.

George is a college prep student. He plans to attend the University of Oklahoma and to major either in music or engineering.

With the Eiffel Tower overlooking red and white awnings of sidewalk cafes, French menus found on doors and red and white checked tablecloths decorated by flowers in red-colored bottles, the 1960 annual Basketball Dance carried out the theme "Chez Paree."

Bill Peterson, master of ceremonies, introduced the evening's entertainment. First on the agenda was Lois Petty singing "All the Tings You Are", accompanied by Judy Beck. Next on the program, portraying Paris belles, Mary Lou Evans and La-Donna Trueman danced.

Coach Bert Alfrey made a few favorable comments on the successful season while the basketball team came forward.

Sharilyn Willman, reigning queen, was escorted by co-captain Alan Ewoldt. Gretchen Gaines and Marilyn Woodward, attendants, were escorted by co-captain Jim Kahrhoff, and Student Council President Jack Juel.

student councils convene at gihs

One of the most important organizations in Grand Island Senior High School is the Student Council. This student government body helps to build responsibility and promote citizenship.

One of the main undertakings of the Council this year was the State Student Council Convention, which was held in Grand Island. The council, working in committees, planned the activities for the convention.

Again this year, the Council promoted "An Orchid to the Parents" during American Education Week. Among other activities were the selling of book covers, pencils and postcards to help raise money.

Members of the Student Council are elected by their homerooms and serve for one semester. Sponsoring the group, which meets once a week, is Mr. Noel Lawrence.

"In my opinion" One of the student discussion leaders gives his views on operating student councils.

Past President of NASC Tim Newens of Omaha Benson hands the gavel to his successor, Bill Abernathy of Omaha Central, as last year's officers, Susan Sautter of McCook, Steve Takechi of Omaha Tech, and Kaye Wagner of Grand Island meet the new officers, Doug Thom of Lincoln High and Ken Lincoln of Alliance.

Taking time out from the busy schedule, the State Student Council representatives gather for lunch in the cafeteria.

Members of the local AFS board, Gary Lawrence, Mrs. Newman, LaDonna Trueman, and Mr. Schroeder, with Nazan Bakirci, find that GIHS students contributed $504.60 to the 1960-61 student exchange program.

afs program
foreign students initial exchange

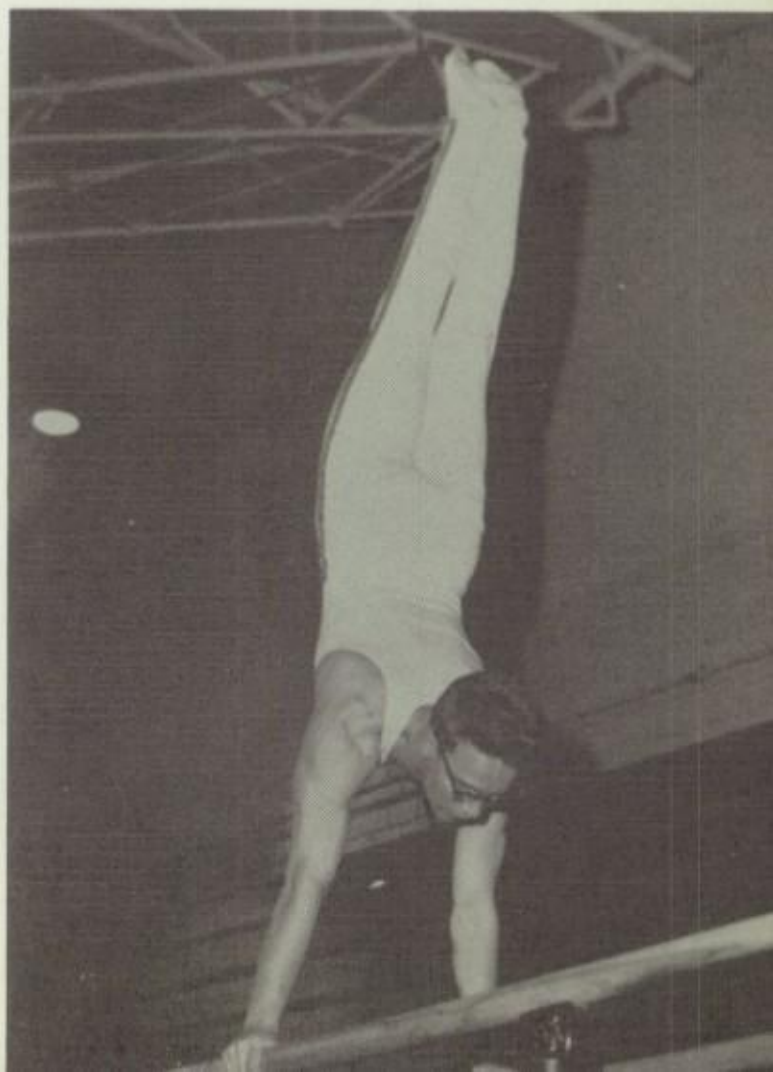
This year Grand Island initiated the American Field Service Program. The function of this organization is the sponsoring of exchange students abroad, and its purpose is the furthering of understanding and good will among people of the world.

Our two exchange students are Nazan Bakirci and Ulrich Ostarhild. Nazan attended an all-girls school in Izmir, Turkey, where English is spoken in all the classes. Before coming to America she had taken five years of English.

Ulrich has studied law and plans to go into the export-import business. Besides studying English for three years, he has a conversing knowledge of Russian and French. Ulrich's home is located near Bonn, Germany.

Studying in New Zealand for six months is Gene Muller, a junior from Grand Island High School. Gene left Grand Island early in February and expects to return in September to complete his last year at GIHS.

With a flair for art, Nazan Bakirci displays her talent at the easel.



Demonstrating his skill on the parallel bars is Ulrich Ostarhild.

Singing "Bon Voyage" to Gene Muller before he leaves for New Zealand as an exchange student, the Purple and Gold staff wish him a safe journey.

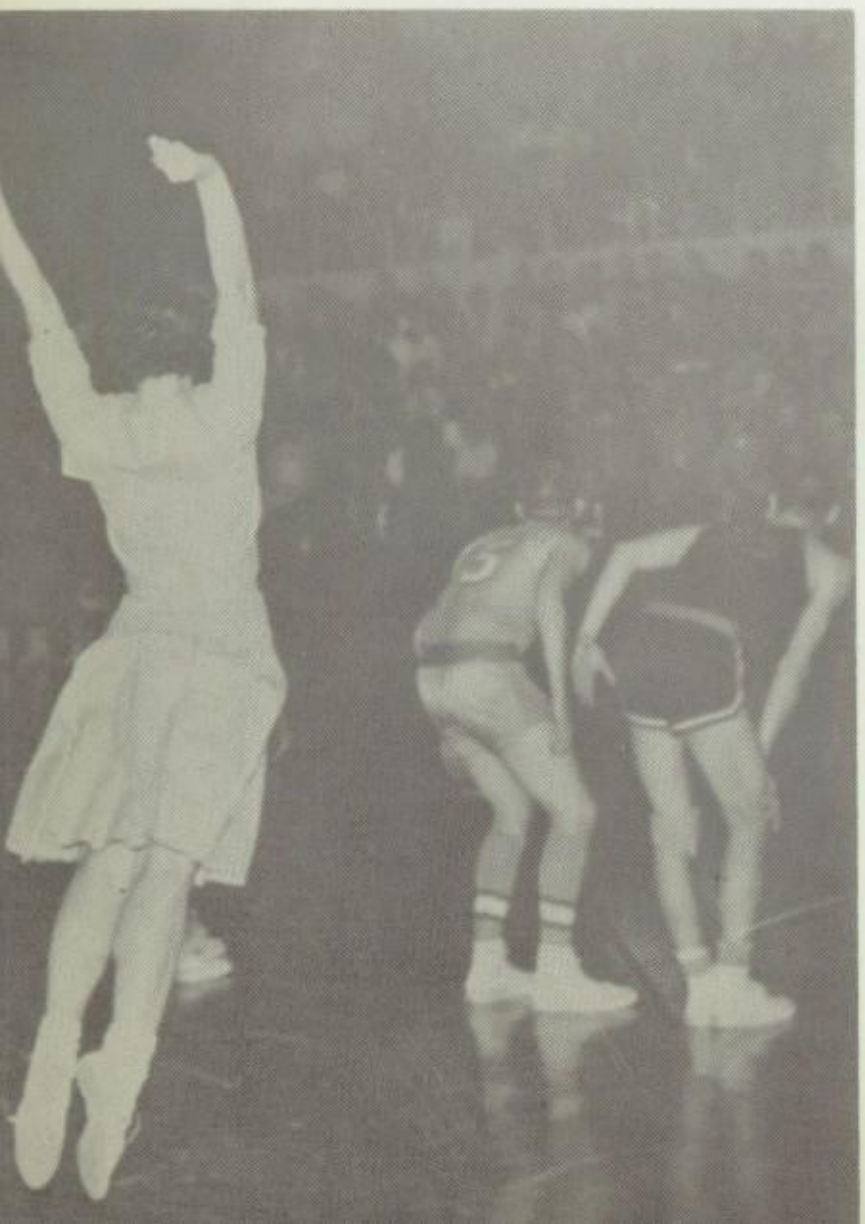
students reflect time of our lives

Time really tried to fly in Mr. Randel's room, and almost succeeded!

Dances provide a time to relax. Meta Willard and Sam Condit take advantage of the between-studies break at the Purple and Gold hour dance.



Long will we remember those late-in-the-evening cram sessions for semester exams. Ron Wiese's activities are typical on the night before exams.

Games provide a time of excitement in our lives. Cheering the varsity squad on to an extra point is Gretchen Gains, captain of the cheerleaders.

Advertising is the backbone of the 1960 Purple and Gold. This section supplements revenue for our publishing budget.

Allowances and employment provide GIHS students with many thousands of dollars every year, the majority of which is spent right here in Grand Island.

Those merchants whom we patronize realize that the teenagers of today will be the community leaders of tomorrow. They are very interested in us. By purchasing ads in the Purple and Gold, they show their interest in us.

By picturing students in these businesses we also portray a part of the school year.

Our advertisers have shown their interest in us; let's show our interest in them. "Patronize Our Purple and Gold Advertisers!"

Jim Price and Susan Evans enjoy the surroundings of Bosselman and Eaton Cafe as they wait for their after-date snacks.

Barbara Roach and Linda Baxter like the embroidery on this glamorous sweater they have found in Rona Lee's. The price is also very reasonable.

Learning how Culligan Soft Water Service makes water soft for their customers, Jim Hayward examines some equipment.

Carol Mower finds the clerks at Bartenbach's very helpful in aiding her in a wise choice in wallpaper for her room.

Do you think she would like a potted plant or cut flowers? Dianne Martin and Suzy Miner are selecting an appropriate gift for a sick friend at the Blossom Shop.

After a hard day at school, Tay Schuff and Meridy Wahe enjoy a relaxing snack of pizza from Niemano's Pizza House. Excellent service in a pleasant atmosphere is what you always get at Niemano's.

overland national bank

Viewing the blueprints of the new Overland National Bank, Christy Gjerloff and Donna Day marvel at its sleek modern air. In the new building you will continue to receive the same convenient helpful service.

upperclassmen outstanding leadership, scholarship

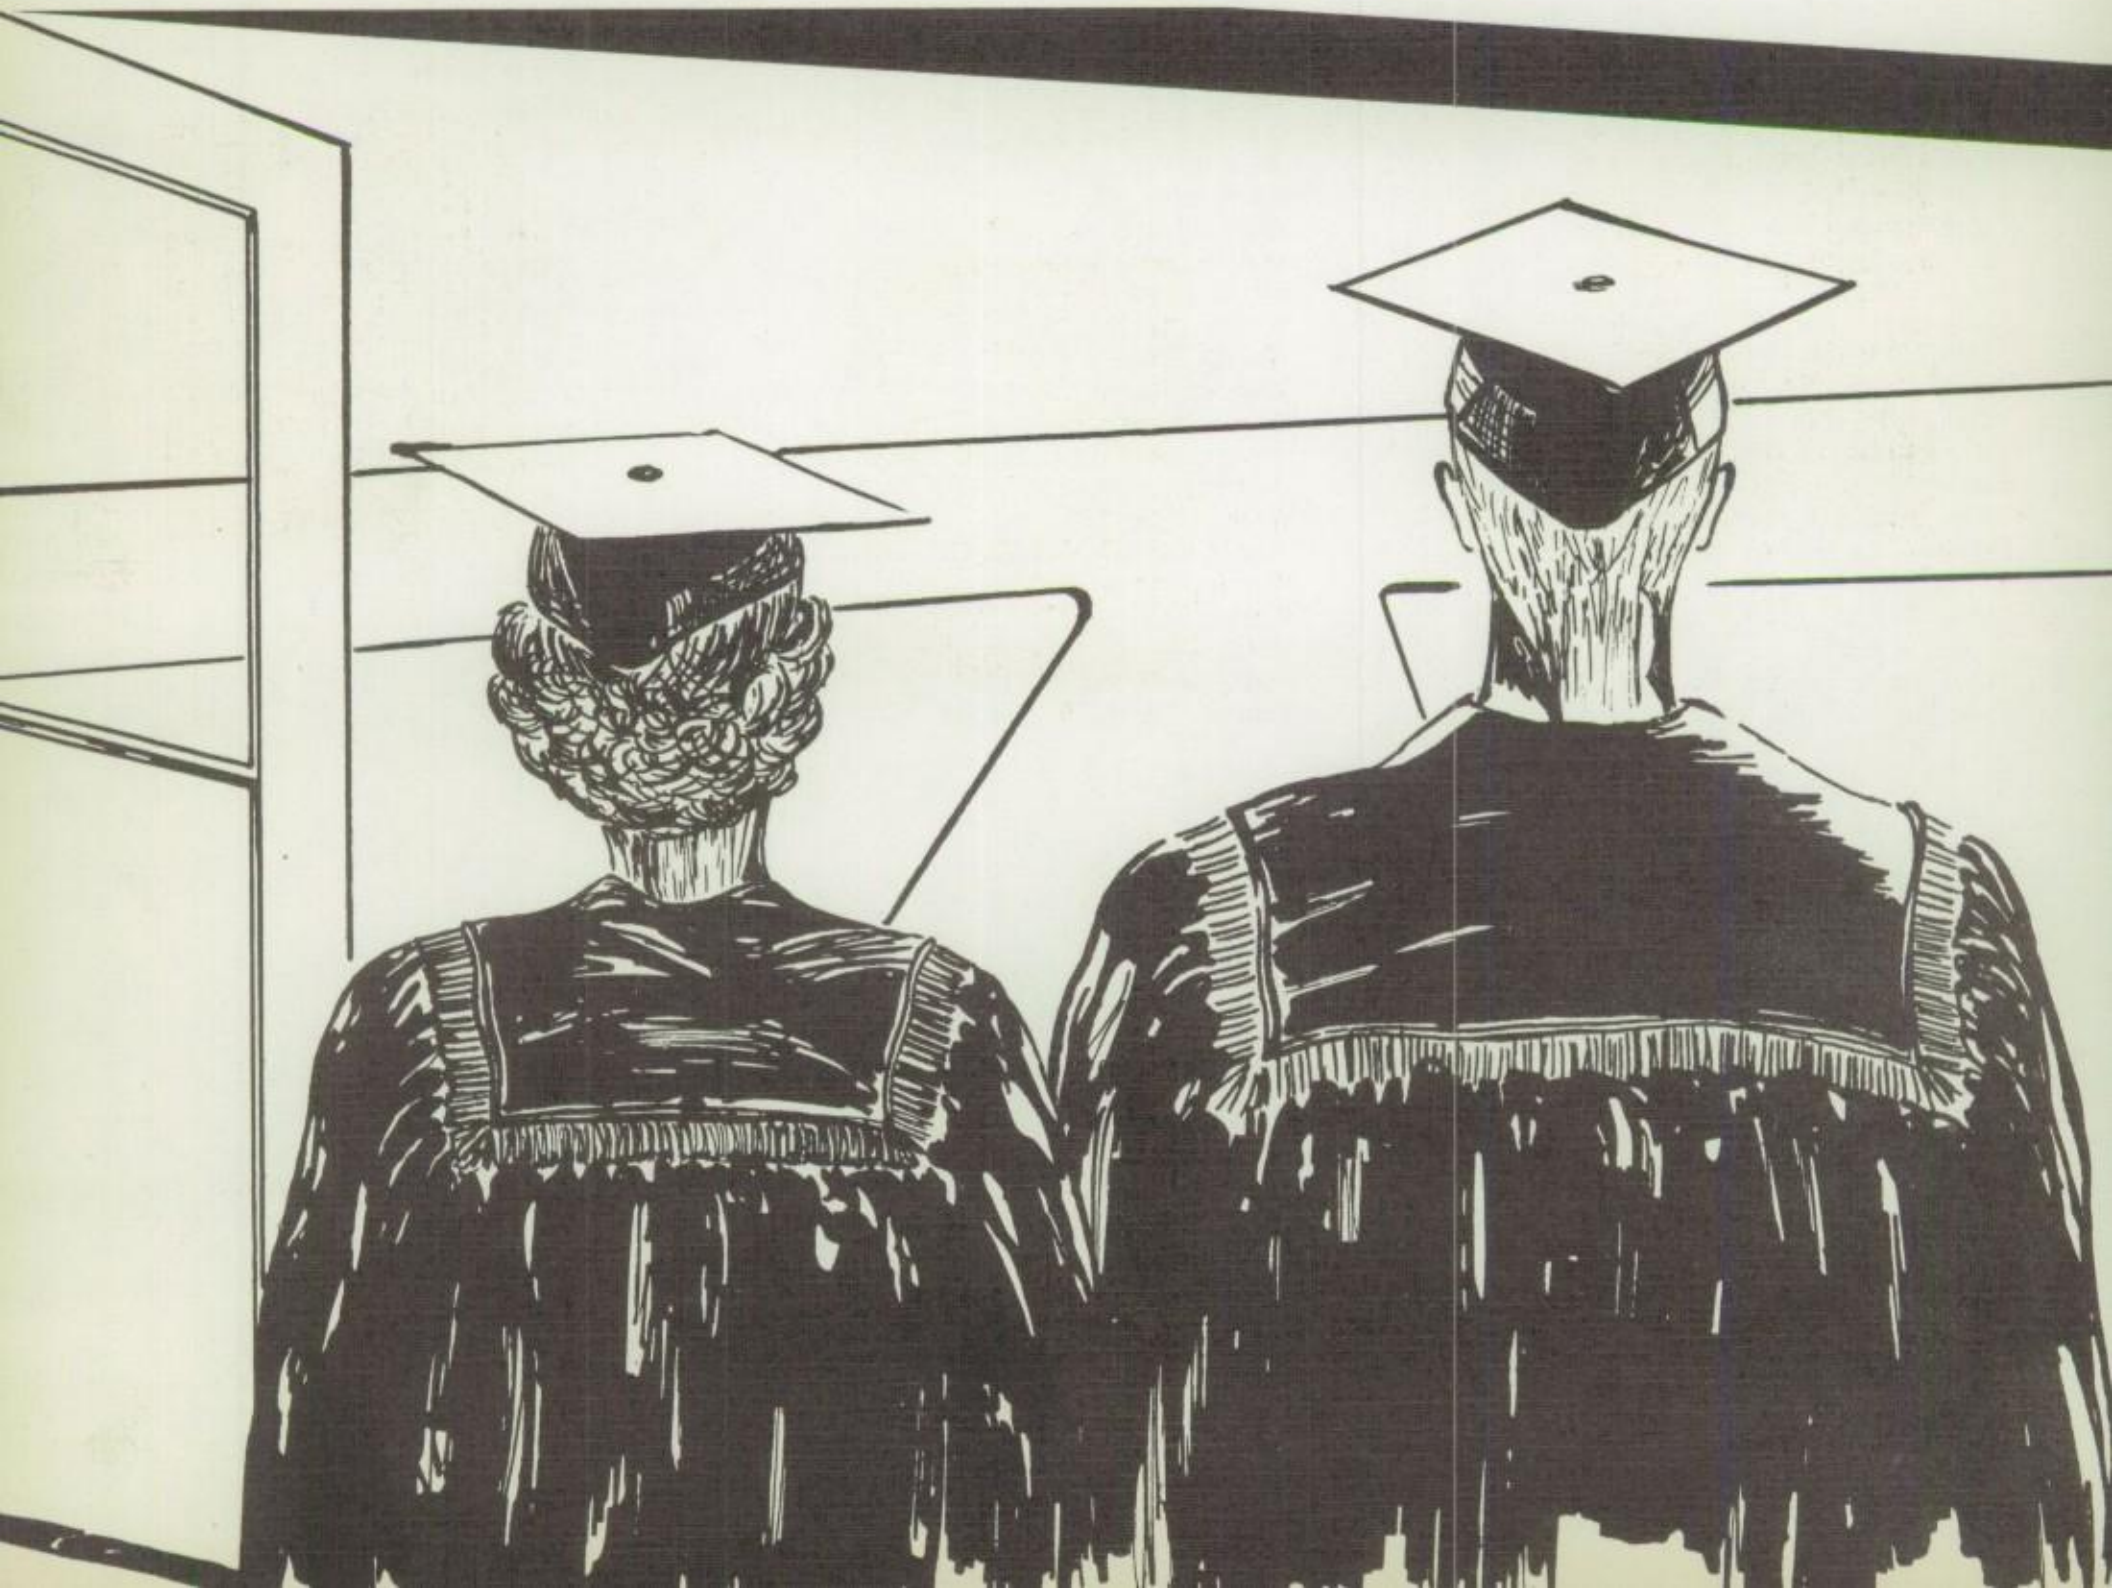
Caps and gowns, speeches and parchment, form a stately backdrop for the various moods and mixed feelings of graduation. Relief is tinged with regret; attainment is tinged with uneasiness. Beneath all of this lie memories etched in a richness that will grow and in disappointment that will fade. Senior High School . . . the "Time of Our Lives" is finished, but, time doesn't stop, and we will now begin spending our time in different ways.

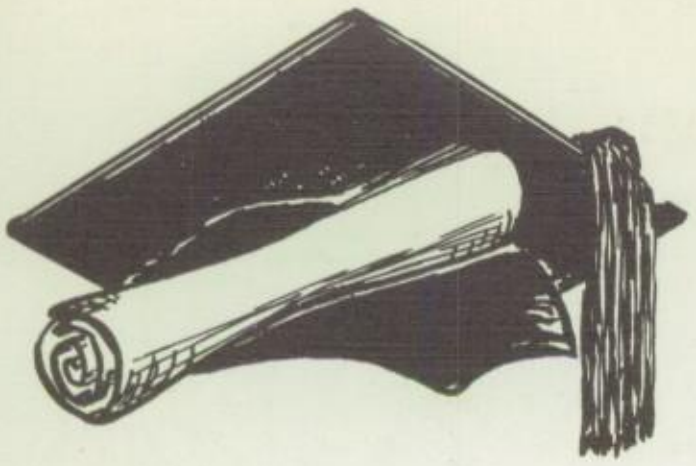
While some students are attending college in preparation for their place in the world, others have already decided on occupations and will be businessmen and women earning their living for themselves and their families.

But, whether we are in Grand Island or far away, employers or employees, we will always treasure the moments spent in Grand Island Senior High School.

The senior year will remain the most memorable of all. Time vanished so rapidly that only in the future can we reflect and capture the great events.

Of course the year didn't consist solely of fun times, but disappointments and downfalls only helped every senior to become a better person, and to develop some of his characteristics into fine qualities.





"We enter to learn, we depart to serve."

1960 . . . the time of our lives

As we prepare to fill in the last square signifying completion of yearbook copy and pictures, the countless hours and work that the staff has given to making the 1960 Purple and Gold, "the best ever," pass in final review.

Since May, 1959, when the cover specifications were submitted, till May, 1960, when the end product, this yearbook, is distributed, we have attempted to bring together the memorable events that have made this year, "The Time of Our Lives."

The 1960 Purple and Gold is the result of concentrated effort of 17 students comprising the staff. Its success, however, rests with the 1100 students of Grand Island Senior High. We acknowledge and appreciate the support the students and community have given us as evidenced by the highly successful subscription and advertising campaigns. Without this co-operation and assistance, our yearbook would not have been possible.

Hi Sue, We've had a lot of fun this year since I've known you. I hope to see you next year and this summer. You're a real sweet girl and I'm sure you'll go far.

Always,
June Cates
